MONTEBARO GUN WAS .32 CALIBRE

Defense Counsel Accuses
Attorney General of Being Armed in Court as Lawyers Clash.

Columbiana, Ala., March 6.—(AP)—The opinion that Miss Louise Montebaro was killed by a bullet from a .32-caliber revolver instead of a .32-caliber weapon as claimed by Police Chief H. F. Blake was advanced today by Dr. S. E. Centerfitt, Montgomery, testifying for the state at the trial of the police chief for the murder.

Blake contends the girl killed herself with her own .32 revolver after he and Officer W. D. Hunter, of Calera, had arrested her for alleged reckless driving. He said he fired only one shot into the air "to frighten her."

Dr. Centerfitt performed an autopsy on the girl shortly after her death. The physician further testified that there were no powder burns about the wound, indicating to him that the revolver from which the bullet was fired was some distance from the girl's head.

The defense will cross-examine the physician tomorrow.

Richard Smith, one of the two "eye-witnesses" to the shooting, told the jury he heard three shots fired the night of last November 14 when Miss Montebaro was mysteriously shot to death.

This testimony contrasted with that of G. W. Jones, a farmer who lives near the scene of the shooting. Jones said he heard one shot fired and saw the officers stop the girl's automobile.

Mrs. Cecil "Big Boy" Smith, aunt of the dead girl, testified 800 Miss Montebaro was known to have had in her possession when she left her home to drive to Birmingham, was missing when relatives claimed her body after her death.

The first day of the presentation of testimony was marked by heated clashes between defense counsel and the prosecution, headed by Attorney General Charlie C. McCall.

At one point Attorney Ellis accused Mr. McCall of "reaching toward his hip pocket," whereupon the attorney general drew the attention of Presiding Judge E. S. Lyman to the fact that he was unarmed.

The defense indicated that Blake will take the stand in his own defense. Meanwhile, Attorney General Charlie C. McCall announced that more than 30 state witnesses remain to be called.

DAVIS DECLARES UNEMPLOYMENT IS GROWING LESS

Washington, March 6.—(United News.)—The general unemployment situation shows marked improvement, Secretary of Labor Davis said today at the white house in commenting on the investigation resolution adopted yesterday by the senate.

Davis also holds an optimistic view on the future and believes spring will see greater improvement.

"Increased employment will follow the resumption of building activities," he said. "The proposed naval and Mississippi river flood control programs, along with state road building and other projects, will absorb much of the present unemployment."

Canary Owner Asks Damages As Birds Die

Faulty Furnace Attachment
Is Blamed in Superior Court Suit.

Permanent injury to 25 canary birds and the untimely demise of 63 more resulted from a faulty furnace attachment installed by the plaintiffs, according to a damage suit filed Tuesday afternoon in Fulton superior court.

This claim is made by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Gness asking that T. J. Monroe, 5 Peachtree Battle avenue, and D. W. Winfree, 50 Rivers road, heating contractors, be made to pay $10 in damages for 88 birds as well as replace the furnace.

The birds were happy, healthy and bright of plumage, the suit says, until in October of last year the plaintiffs put in the furnace attachment.

With a uniform heating arrangement the feathered charges were removed to the basement of the Gness home at 106 East Tenth street, but immediately commenced to droop and die. The Gness petition claims.

After spending $400 in preparation of the basement where the canaries were to be exhibited for sale, not to mention the $305 paid out for the new furnace, the apartment was found to be full of fumes from a faulty connection, it is charged.

NIGHT WATCHMAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

W. H. McDade Is Found
Dead in Bed With Revolver
Chest; Ill Health Blamed

W. H. McDade, 56, of 1770 Wade avenue, Tuesday afternoon was found dead in bed with a revolver wound in the left chest, according to a report by Call Officers J. S. Melton and T. J. Smith. Police said that the death appeared to have been the result of suicide, as the revolver was found on the floor near the body.

Mrs. McDade was away from home at the time of the shooting, and discovered the tragedy on her return home. McDade was a night watchman and accustomed to sleep in the daytime. Powder burns were found around the wound.

In addition to his widow, Mr. McDade is survived by two daughters, Miss Margaret McDade and Mrs. Fred I. Breck; a son, Richard McDade; two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Edmondson and Mrs. W. J. McElroy, of Jacksonville, Fla.; a brother, Charles McDade, and a grandson.

At an inquest held Tuesday afternoon at the residence a verdict of "death from a bullet wound in his chest, self-inflicted, with suicide intent," was returned. George Tumlin, justice of peace of DeKalb county and acting coroner, had charge of the inquest.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson & Son, in charge.

CUBANS ARE TIRED OF NON-STOP HOPS, LEVINE DISCOVERS

Havana, March 6.—(AP)—The Bellanca plane Columbus which flew from the United States to Germany, arrived here on a non-stop flight from New York at 1:35 p. m. today. The plane carried its owner, Charles A. Levine, who made the flight to Germany, and Miss Mabel Boll, with Wilmer Stultz as pilot.

It was a speedy flight over the 1,400-mile air trail, which was completed in 14 hours almost to the minute.

Instead of the large crowds, which the aviators apparently looked for, there was only a small gathering—a few friends of Miss Boll, a few newspapermen, a few photographers. But they made a happy party at the landing field, Campo Columbia.

TURKS PROSECUTE AMERICAN WOMEN FOR PROSELYTISM

Conversion of Mohammedan
Girls Is Crime
Charged; Eternal Battle of Crescent and Cross

Broussa, Turkey, March 6.—(AP)—Three American women, involved in the historic battle between Cross and Crescent, are on trial in Turkey's ancient capital for the violation of the rules of the ministry of education through the alleged discussion of religion in a mission school.

Within sight of the minarets of 150 Mohammedan mosques lying at the foot of Mount Olympus, a Turkish court is hearing the charges against Miss Edith Sanderson, Miss Lucille Day and Miss Jennie Jilson, who are accused of teachings which resulted in the conversion of Mohammedan girls to the faith of the Man of Galilee.

The trial began in a courtroom crowded with students of the American school and zealous local Mohammedans who are interested in the case which has attracted world-wide attention.

A Turkish teacher was called as one of the early witnesses and testified that Mohammedanism is an integral part of Turkish nationalism. This witness alleged the American teachers carried on Christian propaganda, but denied the charge that religious pictures were hung in the school. The only pictures in the school, so the witness stated, were those of Mustafa Kemal and George Washington. Several other witnesses also testified that there was teaching in the school designed to influence pupils in favor of Christianity.

Miss Sanderson, whose home is in Berkeley, Calif., on the filing of charges of disseminating religious propaganda, assumed entire responsibility for giving Bibles to several Moslem girl students and discussing Christianity with them. Discussing on religious discussions, but I am ready to accept the consequences."

The American teachers were not charged with infringement of the civil code on their arraignment February 13, the charges being merely disobedience of the ministry of education rules, the maximum penalty for the latter offense is imprisonment for one month and a fine of 50 lire.

RIVER DREDGING CONTRACTS READY

Agreement of Sale of Sand Taken From Chattahoochee to State Goes to Governor Today.

Contracts covering the sale of sand in the Chattahoochee river by the state of Georgia to the Chattahoochee Sand and Gravel company, of Tallahassee, Fla., were drafted Tuesday by T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general, and will be submitted to Governor Hardman Wednesday for his signature, it was announced by Mr. Gress.

Drafting of the contract marks the culmination of negotiations conducted by Charles A. Goldsmith, head of the company, and Governor L. G. Hardman, acting for the state. The sand company recently has been dredging for sand and gravel on the Appalachian river, of which the Chattahoochee is a tributary, and this work has now reached the Georgia-Florida line.

Under the terms of the contract the state of Georgia will receive 5 cents a cubic yard for the sand and gravel dredged out of the Chattahoochee river by the company. Under the terms of a similar contract the state of Florida last year was paid $28,000 by the company for sand and gravel obtained from the Appalachian river.

The state of Georgia has the right to the sand and gravel in the Chattahoochee river as this state's boundary is the highwater mark on the Alabama side of the river, according to a recent ruling of the assistant attorney general.

Governor Hardman stated he would approve the contract because it would create a new source of revenue for the state and would mean the establishment of plans which would increase the state's taxable property.

The three—A. W. Thomas, Sol Gershen and Clyde Head, admitted forgering fraudulent gasoline tax refund vouchers on which they obtained approximately $35,000 of public funds.

Thomas was chief of the gasoline tax division of the revenue department. Gershen was an auditor in the same division and Head was an auditor in the cigarette tax division of the department.

BELGIAN ACCUSED AS GERMAN SPY GETS LIFE TERM

Paris, March 6.—(AP)—Julius Cesar Joseph Laperre, a Belgian accused of being a German spy during the world war, was found guilty today and sentenced to life imprisonment in a fortress.

The jury deliberated only fifteen minutes on the charges against him. He refused to grant that there were any extenuating circumstances and the judge sentenced Laperre to the full term of life.

SHOT IN BACK ON AUTO DRIVE MAN IS DYING

Bud Stroud, of Douglas County, Is Carried to
Grady Hospital Suffering
From Two Wounds.

POLICE SEEKING GEORGE COLLINS

Man Accused of Shooting
Forced Companions To Toss Victim Out of Car.
It Is Charged.

With two bullet wounds in his back, received following a quarrel on an automobile ride, Bud Stroud, of Douglas county, is in Grady hospital in a dying condition, and police of three counties now are seeking George Collins, of West End, as the man charged with the shooting.

The affray occurred late Tuesday night in Douglas county, not more than 100 yards from the Cobb county border line. The auto party consisting of George Collins, Bud Stroud, Eugene Collins, brother of George, and Henry Watts, the last two of West End—was traveling on the Austell highway when a quarrel arose. What caused it the police have not been able to learn, since Eugene Collins and Watts have refused to discuss it.

George Collins, who was sitting in the rear of the car, fired twice at Stroud, who was on the front seat, it is charged. Both shots took effect. Collins was told, then ordered his two companions to throw the victim out of the machine and to drive him to Adamsville. Arriving there he left the machine.

His two companions then started a search for Lieutenant J. M. Carroll of the Fulton county police. When they found him the party returned to the spot where Stroud had been tossed out and the victim was rushed to Grady hospital for treatment. One shot had taken effect in his back and the second in the back of his head. Physicians declared that his condition was desperate.

Eugene Collins and Henry Watts left Grady hospital after they had brought the victim there and were not detained by officers. Police of Douglas, Cobb and Fulton counties are looking for George Collins, and his arrest is momentarily expected.

Deputy Sheriff A. C. Alkood, of Cobb county, is aiding in conducting the investigation.

COOLIDGE SEES TAX REDUCTION FOR THIS YEAR

Despite Appropriations,
President Believes Slash
of 225 Million Will Be Found Possible.

BUDGET BUREAU JOINS IN VIEW

After First Installments
Are Paid on March 15
Treasury Will Be Able To Make Estimates.

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—Barry unexpectedly, both President Coolidge and high treasury officials believe there will be a moderate tax reduction at this session of congress.

Despite opinions from some congressional sources that appropriations by congress will make tax reduction impossible at this session, the president holds that present appropriations have not jeopardized the $225,000,000 reduction proposed by the administration at the opening of congress.

He is supported in this view by treasury officials who contend that their estimates of income and the budget bureau's recommendations of expenditures would be proved substantially correct when the final figures are at hand.

Both the white house and the treasury, however, are awaiting the result of the March 15 tax payments, which will represent the first installment of taxes on 1927 incomes and from which accurate calculations can be made of the total tax receipts for the fiscal year 1928.

President Coolidge predicated his belief in a moderate tax reduction on the theory that congress will exercise care in future appropriations at this session. If congress would do so, to normal expenditures, he sees no reason why the tax reduction cannot be carried through.

After March 15, contrary to opinions to some quarters, the president sees no threat to tax reduction in the measures for settlement of the alien property question, increased pensions and flood relief.

It is explained that the $50,000,000 provided in the alien property bill will come out of receipts of the current fiscal year, which are ample to absorb it and that the other measures will not strain next year's resources.

The president is represented as still favoring a tax reduction within the $225,000,000 limit but is opposed to a larger reduction unless the March 15 returns show an unexpectedly large yield. This opposition would include the pending bill calling for a reduction of approximately $200,000,000.

In any event, no move toward tax reduction is contemplated in administration circles until the March 15 returns have been received. In the meantime the tax bill, which has been passed by the house, will remain pending before the senate finance committee.

SENATE RATIFIES U. S.-FRENCH PACT

Arbitration Treaty Passes
as Watson Demands Settlement of Debts Contracted for War.

Washington, March 6.—(United News.)—The senate has ratified the French arbitration treaty which was signed here recently.

The preamble of the treaty condemns war as an instrument of national policy and expressed a determination on the part of the United States and France to prevent so far as is within their power any interruption of peaceful relations which have existed for more than a century.

Shortly before the senate began consideration of the treaty, Senator Watson, Indiana republican, declared in debate that the United States is unfair to other European debtors if it does not press France for a settlement of the war debt.

Appeals Court Turned Into Temporary Altar

LEGAL TOMES YIELD TO ORANGE BLOSSOMS

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
The august chambers of the state court of appeals were transformed Tuesday into a temporary altar and dry and musty legal tomes were changed figuratively into orange blossoms when Judge Roscoe Luke, of that bench, responded to an emergency call and presided at a wedding ceremony which united O. A. Derrick, of Atlanta, and Miss Marie Stephens, of the Rock, Ga., in the bonds of matrimony.

Judge Luke was in the midst of a consultation with an associate justice and was torn from the discussion of res judicata and corpus juris to the utterance of the more tender pronunciation of "Love, honor and obey."

By Mr. Derrick, who is the son of I. Wesley Derrick, sheriff of the court of appeals.

Mr. Derrick and Miss Stephens decided after a romance of several months to fly to Atlanta and be married by Judge Luke, a life-long friend of the family. The flying was done by means of an automobile and the

ATLANTA IS SEEN AS AVIATION HUB BY CHAMBERLIN

Future Routes Will Make City Airport of National Importance, Aviator
Says at Banquet.

Future north-south traffic flights will make Atlanta an airport of national importance, Clarence Chamberlin, New York-to-Germany pilot, told a banquet given him Tuesday night by city and chamber of commerce officials.

Chamberlin predicted that airplanes routed between the north and Florida, Cuba and South America will touch at the local field, as well as those Europe-bound via the Azores.

The famous flyer was unstinted in praise of Candler Field improvement work, viewed by him after the lapse of a year.

Atlanta's visitor arrived from Macdon Tuesday morning in a Sperry biplane, said to be the smallest ever seen here. He plans to leave for Knoxville, Tenn., in a few days.

Mrs. Chamberlin Here
Mrs. Chamberlin came to Atlanta Tuesday afternoon from Belleair, Fla., to remain with her husband during his stay here. The couple came at invitation of the city and chamber of commerce officials and the Biltmore hotel, where the banquet was held.

In introducing the pilot, Milton Dargatz, Jr., president of the chamber of commerce, styled him as holder of the world's sustained flight record, and the only airman to take off from an outboard-passenger liner.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, of Atlanta, welcomed Chamberlin on behalf of the city. Henderson Hallman, prominent Atlanta citizen and governor of the National Aeronautic society, was unable to attend through illness.

John Otley, Jr., president of the Atlanta chapter of the society and local newspaperman, was in charge of arrangements.

Tells of Columbia's Hop
Chamberlin, small of stature, wind-tanned and smilingly self-assured, related an absorbing account of the Columbia's historic hop.

He made frequent references to divergent opinions held by himself and "Charley," better known as Charles A. Levine, his companion on the Atlantic flight, whose arrival Tuesday at Havana is heralded in current wire reports.

"We were 200 miles out-bound from New York when our earth inductor compass went bad," he said. "It cost $1,100, and 'Charley' never got over it."

"Flying by the magnetic compass we held the course better than any of us could believe at the time. Just out of Wesley we sighted a liner, checked our course on its wake and glimpsed Lands End, England, in a few hours. After that we were flying in the dark, and came down more or less at

VASSAR GRADUATE LEAPS 8 STORIES TO INSTANT DEATH

Los Angeles, March 6.—(United News.)—Mrs. Ada Watrous Collins, 32, a Vassar college graduate, committed suicide in spectacular fashion today by leaping from an eight-story window in the downtown section.

Hundreds of persons on the street saw the body hurtle through the air. W. D. Collins, the husband, identified the body. He said his wife had been in a sanitarium for the last two months.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Fountain was Miss Susan Stallings, of Americus, Ga., a cousin of Lawrence Stallings, the author and playwright. She formerly was said to have appeared on the New York stage and had studied dramatic art there.

After her marriage, Mrs. Fountain was said to have appeared on the New York stage and had studied dramatic art there.

After a brief wedding trip the couple will make their future home in Atlanta.

Alibi Clears 'Dr. Clement' In Death Quiz

Man Quickly Satisfies Police
He Is Not "Torch"
Murderer.

New York, March 6.—(AP)—As quickly as he had appeared in the picture, by his unannounced surrender to the police Louis Clement was cleared today of connection with the slaying of Miss Margaret Brown, governess.

The police appeared satisfied that Clement had worked in Manhattan all of the day on which the woman was killed and could not have been in New Jersey, where her burning body was found. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, another governess, declared that Clement was not the man with whom she had seen her friend.

There still remained the charge of grand larceny for the theft of a diamond pendant from his estranged wife, Mrs. Theresa van Norden. Clement will be given a hearing on that charge Thursday.

He had been sought for days by the police for questioning concerning Miss Brown, who was left on a lonely road last February 20 stunned by blows and her gasoline-soaked clothing in flames.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(AP)—Mrs. J. A. Fountain, wife of Dr. J. A. Fountain, prominent physician, was killed and Miss Grace Faxon, Boston author, was seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding overturned and caught fire near Forsyth, Ga., Tuesday afternoon.

George P. Rankin, Jr., of Macon, who was driving the car, escaped with slight injuries. The party was en route to Forsyth to visit friends.

Witnesses said the automobile skidded on a sharp curve while going at a high rate of speed, crashed into a wagon and overturned.

Physicians said Mrs. Fountain died as a result of a broken neck and back, while Miss Faxon was said to be suffering from a fractured pelvis.

Dr. Fountain was in New Orleans attending the session of the American College of Physicians.

Miss Faxon has been editor of The Normal Instructor, a magazine for school teachers.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Fountain was Miss Susan Stallings, of Americus, Ga., a cousin of Lawrence Stallings, the author and playwright. She formerly was said to have appeared on the New York stage and had studied dramatic art there.

Binnis Is Confident.

Carlton W. Binnis, solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, who is opposed in his race for a full term by John S. McClelland in the primary today, Tuesday night issued the following statement which claimed victory:

"On the eve of the primary and after having received reports from every precinct in Fulton county, I am assured of a victory on Wednesday.

"I desire to take this occasion to express very deep appreciation and that of those associated with me on my ticket for the untiring efforts that have been put forth by hundreds of our friends throughout the county, and to thank the thousands of friends who have been good enough to call over the telephone and write us letters assuring us of their loyal support, because of the record we have made in office.

"Our campaign has been conducted on a high plane and we have asked for the support of the voters of this county on the basis of our record for law enforcement and for efficiency in office. We are confident of a victory, by a safe majority on Wednesday.

McClelland Grateful.

Expressing gratitude to "the host of friends who have given me their support in my race for solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta," John S. McClelland, who is opposing Carlton W. Binnis, incumbent, Tuesday night issued a primary eve statement outlining means of his campaign and his claim for votes.

The statement follows: "I desire to take this opportunity to thank the thousands of friends who have voluntarily offered their support and vote to me in this race for solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta.

This support has come to me not only from my friends of former races, but thousands of those who have never supported me before. I am assured that my candidacy has made a strong appeal to the sense of fairness and justice that is in the minds of the people. When Mr. Dorsey resigned, the selection of his successor should not have been left to intriguing politicians, but should have been made in response to the clear and expressed wishes of the public.

"There was but a slight difference in the support which Mr. Dorsey and myself received before. Enough to give him election, it is true, but enough also to clearly demonstrate that I and the confidence of the public, and behind me the ardent wishes of many thousands that I should fill this place.

"It has been my purpose, and that of my friends from the beginning of this campaign to conduct it clean, without personality and without abuse, or said, of which I have occasion to regret, and I thank my friends for their kind, generous, and magnanimous way in which they have conducted my support."

Imman Thanks Supporters.

Ed H. Imman, candidate for one of the two positions on the Fulton county board of commissioners for which nominations will take place today, Tuesday night issued a statement calling on voters of the county to support him because of his successful business experience, I am confident that the voters of the county will honor me with one of the two positions to be filled, and wish at this time to pledge my best efforts to assure an economical, equitable and business-like distribution of the county's funds after my elevation.

"Those who are acquainted with my record as a member of the general council, with my business activities, and with my standing in the community will vote for me. There are thousands of others who feel that the board should have a successful business man on the board who is able to give his time and talents to supervision of the county's business. I will do that.

"Experience gained through many years of public and business life makes me eminently fitted to hold the position to which I aspire, and I am confident that voters of the county will cast their votes for a progressive administration which I shall endeavor to assure.

"When I offered for the position, my one desire was to secure the best interests of the county, and that still is my intention. I wish at this stage of the race to thank those who have so loyally supported me, and to pledge again my service in the interest of Fulton county as a whole."

Stewart Predicts Victory.

Walter B. Stewart, at present chairman of Fulton county commissioners and a candidate for nomination for a full term subject to the county primary today, Tuesday night issued through his campaign manager, Robert F. Pennington, a statement in which he predicted a sweeping victory "which will be a tribute to the service I have rendered since my elevation to the board about 18 months ago, when I, N. Ragulale resigned to become mayor of Atlanta."

Mr. Stewart also thanked his friends who have devoted "much of their time and energy to secure my nomination for a full term on the basis of my record."

His statement follows: "For the past 18 months I have endeavored to the best of my ability to serve Fulton county as one of its five commissioners in order to assist in building the richest and greatest county in the state. My success is written into the records of the county and are open for public inspection. I am proud of that record.

"It has been a real pleasure to assist in any way I could, and with the election day almost here I want to renew that pledge of service to the county and to the people of Fulton county. I have assisted in erection of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaduct, street improvements on a number of thoroughfares in Atlanta and other municipalities, and while I am the only member of the board from the southern district of the county I have attempted to vote for projects which would be of county-wide benefit. This short review is intended to refresh the minds of the voters as to part of the record which I have made.

"This opportunity is taken to thank those who have staunchly supported my candidacy and my personal friends who have assisted actively in my campaign."

An Open Letter to Sam Hewlett:

Is a man qualified to hold office who is not qualified to vote?

What constitutes a citizen's right to register and vote?

Is a man qualified to vote who is not legally registered?

You publicly admitted that you did not pay your taxes for seven years until February 29, this year.

Can a man be legally registered who has not paid taxes for 7 years?

Doesn't a man have to swear that his taxes are paid in order to have his name on the registration list?

Will you explain your system whereby you evaded payment of your taxes for seven years to the voters of Fulton County—or have you a system?

Is a persistent tax-dodger a safe man to handle the County's funds?

It is the impression of the writer that, according to the law, when you fail at any time to pay your taxes six months prior to a general election, you are automatically disqualified to vote, or hold an elective office to be given to you by the citizens of Fulton County, or any other county.

Am I right or am I wrong?

R. A. BOSTON.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I take pleasure in announcing the opening of a fully equipped Thomas office in Atlanta at 160 Peachtree street, opposite Howard Theatre, 2nd floor, where the Thomas Original Discovery for Baldness Treatment is being administered under my direct supervision.

I call attention to the fact that it is the only Thomas office in Atlanta for the treatment of all abnormal hair and scalp troubles, and point with pride to the marvelous growth of the Thomas Organization. We are treating over fifteen hundred men daily in our forty-two offices located in the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

I invite all men with hair and scalp troubles, or who are bald, to visit our office for a free hair and scalp examination without obligation, and especially extend to physicians an invitation to see what we do to correct abnormal scalp conditions and promote the growth of new hair.

Pa Thomas P.H.D.

Proof That—

WE GROW HAIR!

The Thomas' Dear Sirs:

Lurking back there in my mind was that thought: "It won't be long now" until I would be a regular recruit in the ranks of the bald-headed army. That problem confronted me. Could it be prevented?

Listen!! My scalp was affected with dandruff and the hair just came out by the handful. I tried several preparations to rid myself of this parasite, but to no avail. I became disgusted and it worried me, too. Then I noticed an ad by "The Thomas" and it interested me. When I found out what they were doing for my friends and thousands of other folks, I began treatments immediately.

After ten treatments—what a change! No itching, my scalp took on new life. Have just completed my treatment course and I have a new head of hair from one-half to two inches in length. The dandruff is gone and the scalp has a pink color which denotes a healthy condition. What more can one ask?

I only wish I could show every one of your prospective clients the results I have obtained. Without a doubt, after a few treatments, they would say: "It won't be long now" until I'll have all the hair nature intended for me. Will wonders ever cease?

Heartiest wishes for your success.

Yours Very Truly,

(Signed) H. E. S.

POSITIVE PROOF

Do not take our word for it—Call any hour of the day or evening—talk with men taking treatments here—see the new hair they are growing—learn the facts before you decide. You will be amazed at the result obtained the Thomas way. No obligation on your part—First examination is absolutely free.

FREE SCALP Examination Thomas' Trichorita treatment grows hair.

Years ago you didn't have a competent scalp specialist to advise you when your hair started falling and the spectre of baldness appeared. Highly perfumed tonics and numerous home remedies were used which only hastened baldness and your luxuriant growth of hair was lost before 40.

Today, The Thomas System is preventing baldness and growing hair because the right scientific treatment is applied to each particular case. Scientific treatment for the hair is teaching men to stop the haphazard methods previously in use.

The Thomas thorough scalp examination will reveal the causes of your scalp troubles. Our scientific treatment builds up the scalp. Dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair and other scalp disorders quickly disappear—the hair papillae responds to action of the treatment and hair begins to grow, becoming visible usually in from 3 to 6 weeks. Come in today for free, private scalp examination.

LEAGUE LEADERS PLAN TO ADJOURN

Geneva, March 6.—(P)—The "big five" of the League of Nations council—Sir Austen Chamberlain, of Great Britain; Aristide Briand, of France; Gustave Stresemann, of Germany; Vittorio Scialoja, of Italy; and Mineo-cho Adachi, of Japan—conferred tonight. They did not, however, discuss the proposals outlawing war, which Secretary Kellogg, of the United States state department, made to France.

Instead, these leaders of the league tried to work out procedure which they hoped will enable the council to disperse next Saturday when some of the members are obliged to return to their capitals.

Mr. Briand, receiving French correspondents tonight, said that the Kellogg proposals constituted an affair between France and the United States.

He emphasized that Geneva was not the proper place in which to discuss them. It was taken for granted, however, that the subject was not excluded from private conversation.

The council received a telegraphic suggestion from Maxim Litvinoff, chief of soviet representatives abroad, that Turkey be invited to send a representative to the next session of the disarmament commission.

ARABS OFFICIALLY START HOLY WAR

London, March 6.—(P)—The "Holy war" in Arabia came nearer to reality tonight when an Exchange Telegraph agency dispatch from Jerusalem brought word that Ibn Saud, king of the Hedjaz and Sultan of Nejd, had made a formal declaration of hostilities against the three British mandates that border his desert realm from the Red sea to the head of the Persian gulf.

Official quarters are silent here, but all an interest in the active step are being taken to meet the situation. English newspapers openly discuss the problem of defense against this new threat of the Wahabi tribes.

The situation was created when the Arabian desert king, formerly a friend of Great Britain, decided to cast his lot with the war-like groups which long have been raiding their northern neighbors. Ibn Saud, with typical Mohammedan tactics, at once put the movement on a religious plane.

He is, however, directing his wrath at "renegade and unfaithful" sects, against whom he will lead "true Moslems."

The Saud, some observers estimate, may be able to place 30,000 hardy fighting fanatics in the field.

The chief defense against him at present is a detachment of the royal air force in the mandate of Iraq. There are 45 bombing planes and a dozen Bristol fighters there and they are reported as operating on the border daily. The air correspondent of The London Evening Star declares he has learned from an authoritative source that arrangements are being made to hold aerial reinforcements in readiness in Egypt, Palestine and India.

There is a suspicion in some quarters that Ibn Saud's threat may be merely tactical. These sources see him aiming at a closer relation with certain powerful sheiks who have not been supporting his rather unstable desert realm with a too great loyalty. They also credit Saud with a yearning for the yearly subsidy which the British gave him for his aid in keeping some of the king's allies busy during the world war.

LABOR MAN ASSAILS USE OF INJUNCTION

Washington, March 6.—(P)—Continued use of the injunction in labor disputes will reduce the working people of the United States to a subject class like the sudra of India, Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's Union of America, declared today in urging the house judiciary committee to act favorably upon the anti-injunction bill.

"We maintain," Furuseth said, "that it cannot stop with the times which is now all too narrowly called the working class; it must go on until it appears to all who do creative labor of any kind. We see in this the enthroning of property, the return of slavery, the turning of the Christian evolution backward and the destruction of the system of government of these United States."

Furuseth declared that congress, having repealed "the Magna Charta and then conferred the discretionary powers of the king upon our judges," could restore these principles.

Favorable action on the bill, which has been offered by Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, also was advocated by officials of the American Federation of Labor who declared that the use of injunctions in labor disputes has brought about an inequality of rights in the courts of employers and employees.

John Frey, representing the labor organization, declared that "the injunctive cudgel" had been wielded so frequently that a necessary respect for the courts does not exist.

Frey testified that in many instances the courts had assisted employers in enforcing lower wage scales, in disrupting the work of labor organizations and even in breaking contracts. As a result of the issuance of an injunction, he declared, the employer is given a distinct advantage over the employee.

FURNITURE "TRUST" CHARGES BY U. S. ENDED BY FINES

Chicago, March 6.—(P)—The government's prosecution of a furniture manufacturers' trust ended today with the disposition here of the cases against 50 of the 200 firms indicted more than two years ago.

Counsel for these 50, who previously had stood trial, accepted pleas of nolo contendere. Judge Adam C. Cliffe, of district court, asserted fines ranging from $500 to $3,500. Nolo contendere is a denial of guilt in the acceptance of judgment.

This course was taken to avoid further legal costs and to avert probable bankruptcy for some of the defendants, their legal spokesmen said. Most of the firms were in Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana.

STINSON-HALDEMAN ENDURANCE FLIGHT AGAIN DELAYED

Detroit, March 6.—(P)—Fog and a minor accident, which resulted in slight damage to their monoplane, today delayed the take off of Eddie Stinson and George Haldean on an endurance flight in which they hope to set a new world's record for sustained flight.

As they taxied to position on the ice of Lake St. Clair, the propeller of the plane was slightly bent and a tire blew out when a wheel broke through a thin crust of ice. Fog had prevented the take-off for several hours prior to the mishap.

Stinson, a Detroit airplane manufacturer, announced the plane would be repaired immediately, but declined to state whether he planned to take off later in the day.

SOUTH DAKOTANS INDORSE LOWDEN FOR G.O.P. CHOICE

Pierre, S. D., March 6.—(P)—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, was unanimously proposed as the republican presidential nominee by action of the South Dakota republican state convention today.

This action, tantamount to a pledge of the state's support for Lowden in the national convention, was together with action in Kansas favoring Senator Curtis, the first formal expression of a presidential preference by states in the 1928 campaign.

Peter Norbeck, senior United States senator from South Dakota, was proposed as Mr. Lowden's running mate. The endorsement was given unanimously amid cheers.

The former Illinois chief executive had no opposition.

Weather Man's New Scheme Charge Delinquents 10 Per Cent of Taxes, Says Von Herrmann Would Bring Voters to Polls

BY CRAIG F. THOMPSON.

C. F. von Herrmann, Atlanta's official weather forecaster, Tuesday turned away from his barometers and laid aside his weather charts to devote a moment or two to civic betterment, and with considerable if not startling results.

Mr. von Herrmann developed a scheme whereby the chief cause of the newspaper editor's criticism may be removed. It is a plan whereby the vote of the people, the whole vote and nothing less, may be coaxed to the polls. And right on the eve of election day in Fulton county, too!

Mr. von Herrmann lays great store in his plan. "It will work like a charm," he says.

Substantially, it is something like this:

Ten Per Cent Reduction.

Each and every citizen who casts his vote will receive a certificate, the certificate to entitle that citizen to a 10 per cent reduction on his taxes. Steps would have to be taken, of course, to see that no fraudulent certificates are issued, but, in the opinion of Mr. von Herrmann, that would be just as simple as the great work now being carried on to prevent fraudulent voters. The certificate would, naturally, be a reward to the citizen for fulfillment of his civic duty.

When the citizen who had voted, and thus earned his tax discount papers, paid his annual levy, he would be given a return of 10 per cent on presentation of his certificate.

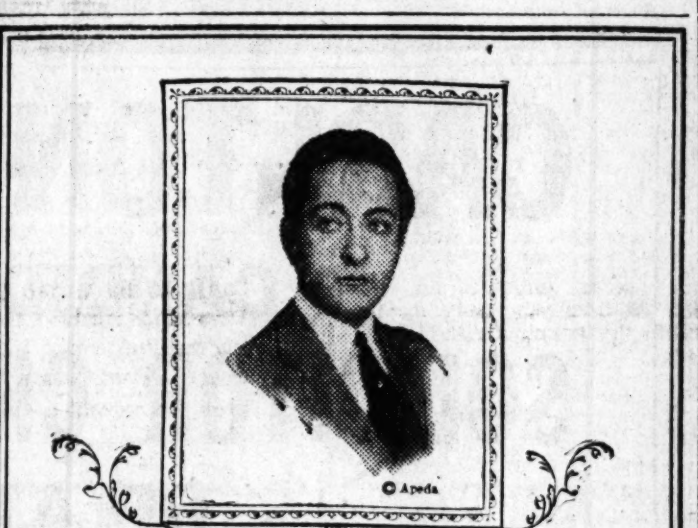

The loss in revenue that the state, county or city sustained in paying back 10 per cent of each man's tax and thus cutting down their income that much could be made up by increasing the levy a corresponding amount. This, in substance, would amount to a 10 per cent penalty on those who did not vote, for the man who did vote would have his taxes raised 10 per cent, and then because he had done his duty by voting the raise would be given back to him.

So far, so good.

Efficiency Sought After.

Now, it is Mr. von Herrmann's belief that if everybody voted, a much more efficient government would result. Efficiency, he believes, would result in a decrease in governmental orchard, and since the tax is designed to do no more than cover the cost of government, a drop in costs would naturally result in a drop in assessment, thereby effecting general good, providing, as it would, more voters, lower taxes and better government.

After Mr. von Herrmann evolved this plan for aiding mankind he frankly does not know what to do with it. He feels sure that no politician would sponsor it, for obvious reasons. So, although he was convinced that his plan is sound, and therefore feasible, he turned wearily back to his weather charts with a blanket denial of any and all rumors that he is a candidate for any office, quite sure that whether he votes or not he will be assured of just as good a president as anybody else gets.

CROSSING BRIDGE, SCENE OF CRIME, DROWNER WEEPS

Crown Point, Ind., March 6.—(United News).—George A. Chisholm, Canadian war veteran, broke down and sobbed bitterly today as he crossed the bridge from which he confessed he had thrown his two small sons, George, Jr., and Edgar, into the waters of the canal below.

Chisholm was being taken from East Chicago to the county jail here as a precautionary measure against possible mob violence.

A traffic tie-up caused the stop on the bridge where the slayer of his two small sons was forced to pause for several minutes. The strain of the delay was too much for the father and he cried throughout the time he was forced to wait for the police car to proceed.

Police urged the slayer to conceal his identity among the prisoners and he was known as George Smith, the name he used while living with Mrs. Helen Lawrence, his common-law wife.

HERE'S THE ANSWER, MR. LOWRY!

In Tuesday afternoon's newspapers appeared cards in support of the campaign of J. I. Lowry for the office of Sheriff of Fulton county, in which Mr. Lowry asks: "When is long enough?" for an office-holder to enjoy the fruits of his public position.

Twelve years is long enough, Mr. Lowry!

You have served as Sheriff of Fulton county for that time.

Do you think that you have a mortgage or clear title to the position? Judging by the ridiculous claims advanced by your campaign committee, you think so.

The presidents of the United States for time immemorial have abided by the unwritten law that no single one of them shall serve for more than two consecutive terms.

You have served for 12 years as Sheriff, and when an opponent enters the field against you, you emit a wailing query on "When is long enough?" in an evident desire to stir up false sentiment!

History discloses that wherever government has been seized by a clique and retained for any great length of time, that government grows weak.

Instead of asking questions—"When is long enough?"—can you advance any definite and positive statement of fact, Mr. Lowry, why you should not be succeeded as Sheriff by a man who is pledged to newer, more modern, more aggressive policies?

Voters of Fulton county today at the polls will give a conclusive answer to "When is long enough?" They will do so by casting their ballots for A. M. Corrie, a resident of this county for 35 years and a man who stands for righteous and efficient management of the sheriff's office.

They have been and are convinced that Fulton county needs a new and more progressive sheriff—and that man is A. M. Corrie.

OUR FRIENDS ARE WARNED NOT TO BE DUPED BY LAST-MINUTE PROPAGANDA THEY WILL NO DOUBT HEAR TODAY.

POPE RULED KLAN, SAYS EX-MEMBER

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—(AP)—Further revelations of how the Ku Klux Klan is alleged to have sought complete political power in Indiana and elsewhere were given here today in depositions before Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliam, who is seeking to oust the order from the state. The witnesses were Samuel H. Bemenderfer, of Muncie, formerly an official, who declared the Klan "a gigantic swindle" and an order whose officers in many states were controlled by the Roman Catholic political machine; Orin Norcross, Muncie, also a former officer; Thomas W. Swift, of Indianapolis, and E. R. Silson, of Anderson, whose recollections of the organization's political activities by a telephone from Indianapolis; statements as to membership and distribution of klotters, or initiation fees, were outlined by the witnesses. The witnesses testified that the Klan interested itself mostly in politics. "That a new civil messiah will be born in the manner of the Hoosier ballot box" was the advice given klansmen in an "official mandate" signed by Milton S. Elrod, editor-in-chief of the Hoosier, the Klan's official newspaper, under date of October 6, 1923, Norcross testified. "Who was the messiah to be born in the ballot box?" Attorney General Gilliam asked. "I never learned," Norcross said with a smile. "We found that the Klan's finances in Illinois were placed in a Catholic bank and that the organization's attorneys were Catholics," Bemenderfer declared. "The grand dragon of St. Louis was a Catholic," he asserted. Bemenderfer said the committee had learned that a man named Savage, located in Washington, D. C., and head of the Klan's imperial investigation committee, also was a Catholic.

DECLARES SCIENCE HAS DRIVEN BACK GRIM TUBERCULOSIS

New Orleans, March 6.—(AP)—Even if it is not possible to stamp out tuberculosis, science at least has kept the grim disease from taking the life of the average citizen, Dr. Charles L. Minor, of Asheville, N. C., told the American College of Physicians here today. Dr. Minor, who reviewed scientific knowledge of the disease, expressed the belief that science would give an honest test to the Calmette development of a supposed immunizing agent to be used in preventive treatments. Dr. John H. Musser, of Tulane university, New Orleans, was nominated president of the college. Dr. Alfred Scott, Washington, of Ann Arbor, and Dr. S. Marx White, of Minneapolis, were nominated to succeed themselves as first and second vice presidents, respectively, while Dr. W. McKim Marriott, of St. Louis, was the choice for third vice president. The election will be held Thursday.

BRING YOUR FRIENDS. These lectures are free to the public, and you are sure you will enjoy every one of them. THE EYESIGHT AND HEALTH SCHOOL presents Dr. Richardson—he is a graduate ophthalmic physician and surgeon, also a graduate in ophthalmology and optometry. He has not only traveled in all parts of the United States, but has traveled extensively in European countries. He was once helpless without glasses. Today we believe he has the strongest pair of eyes of any man in the world—he recently read for 31 hours and 12 minutes without glasses and without stopping. He claims that eye-glasses are a detriment to the human eye. Don't fail to hear him.

LINDBERGH FLEES FROM PUBLIC EYE

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—The capital tonight apparently had swallowed up Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who landed unharmed at Bolling field at 6:30 o'clock this morning, was hustled in an army automobile to an unknown destination, and went into seclusion.

The suddenness of his reappearance after a round trip to Scott field, Belleville, Ill., in 20 hours, caught the city unawares. A few officers, emergency crew mechanics and the chauffeur who drove him were the only ones who saw Lindbergh, to the knowledge of newspapermen and photographers who scoured the city and the flying field. He is believed to have spent the day sleeping, but officials of the Haquet club, where he spent Saturday night, denied having seen him. The Western Union Telegraph company, with a message addressed to the flier, vainly tried to reach him and appealed to the Associated Press for assistance, stating that Bolling field officials had declared they knew nothing of him since his departure yesterday. Both assistant secretary of war for aviation, F. Truett Davidson, and Brigadier General James W. Fehert, chief of the army air corps, were unaware that Lindbergh had landed until informed by newspapermen and declared they did not know of any official purpose in his visit. Lindbergh would accompany him and Davidson on their flight to Panama later in the week. Nothing could be learned at Bolling field of Lindbergh's plans for departure. Another emergency crew was on duty tonight, and the floodlights were turned on, but officials said this was done for local officers. A dinner is scheduled for tomorrow night, but officers refused to say whether Lindbergh would be a guest.

HOSPITAL DENIES LINDY IS THERE

Washington, March 6.—(United News)—Officials of Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, denied over the phone tonight that Charles A. Lindbergh was to enter the hospital for a rest as rumored here. The superintendent said no arrangements had been made with the hospital to enter the noted flier as a patient.

ESCH CONFIRMATION LOSES IN COMMITTEE

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—The long standing row over the lake coal case reached a definite point today when opponents of the reappointment of John J. Esch, of Wisconsin, a member of the interstate commerce commission, obtained an unfavorable committee report on his confirmation. The vote was ten to seven, party lines being broken on both sides. Accompanying the unfavorable report to the senate, to be made within the next few days, was a minority report, Senator Fess, Ohio, urging confirmation. While Esch first came under fire during the long hearings before the interstate commerce commission because of his change to vote in the two lake coal cases, the attack broadened to include the whole question of the commission's policy under the High-Smith resolution, which provides for readjustment of freight rates. Opponents of Esch contended that by reversing itself in the lake coal case and granting to the Pennsylvania and Ohio soft coal fields an increased preferential rate over those in the Virginia-Kentucky territory, the commission had sought deliberately to shift industrial depression from the northern to the southern fields.

TOKYO POLICE DENY INFLUENZA REPORT

Tokyo, March 6.—(United News)—The health section of the metropolitan police today ridiculed reports of a dangerous influenza epidemic in Tokyo, declaring that the general health situation probably was similar to that in New York and any other metropolis. The authorities said there were only 1,700 deaths from all kinds of pulmonary diseases in the metropolitan area in February, when influenza epidemics are prevalent.

Liams, 25, of 247 Elverth street, were arrested Tuesday night by Detectives Austin and Armstrong at a local hotel on charges of disorderly conduct and gaming, following a complaint of Thomas B. Martin, 18, of Nashville, Tenn., that he had been fleeced out of a watch and $20. According to detectives, Martin, who has been studying at Fort McPherson, preparatory to taking an examination for entrance into West Point military academy, was enticed into a "card game" by the trio.

He was married, two sons, Leonard T. and Harry Woodruff; two daughters, Misses Evelyn and Irene Woodruff; three sisters, Mrs. W. Anderson, Mrs. Annie W. Harrison, and Mrs. Charles A. Anderson, New York, Ga., and a brother, James W. Woodruff, Decatur. The body will be taken this morning to Newwood, with A. K. Turner in charge.

JAZZ KILLER GOES TO PRISON SMILING

Painesville, Ohio, March 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Velma West, the blonde hammer-slayer of Perry, Ohio, will enter the women's reformatory at Marysville tomorrow to begin a life sentence for the slaying of her young husband, Thomas Edward West, son of a wealthy nurseryman.

Velma escaped trial for first-degree murder this morning when Prosecutor Seth Paulin accepted the plea of guilty to a second-degree charge. The 21-year-old girl, jubilant over the disposition of the charge, looked forward to life within the reformatory walls as a change to be desired. Her cell in the Lake county jail, though brightened a bit with flowers and pictures since her incarceration three months ago, has been a place of terrible solitude. "I feel like I'm in a prison," she declared. "Within ten years I will be eligible for parole," said Velma. "That gives me hope. I expect to work, to occupy my mind to get away from it all. I long for the fresh air and for something to do. I love life and I want to live it. That's the way of youth, I guess."

The attractive young woman was full of smiles as she received newspapermen after Common Pleas Judge J. D. Barnes had passed sentence upon her.

But later in the day she lost her calm demeanor when her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Van Woert, of Cleveland, Ohio, came to her at the jail to bid her farewell.

When in the arms of her mother, she suddenly collapsed. Several minutes passed before she revived. The leave taking then was cut short on account of her condition. Velma asked to be taken to the honeymoon bungalow at Perry, where she had her husband to slay with a hammer last December. She wanted to get some of her personal belongings, she said, but Prosecutor Paulin refused to give his consent. She probably will be taken to the reformatory tomorrow morning.

Velma's plea of guilty to a second-degree murder charge was a routine affair, colored only by the emotion which the girl displayed when she heard Judge Barnes refer to the killing as "a horrible crime, an unthinkable thing."

The court, however, stated in a brief remarks to Velma that counsel for both sides had consulted with him fully and he had decided to find a basis for a first-degree murder charge. Judge Barnes remarked that no part of her term is to be spent in solitary confinement.

HICKMAN TAKES STAND TO SHOW THAT HE IS CRAZY

Los Angeles, March 6.—(AP)—In an effort to show that William E. Hickman is insane, counsel for the youth said today he would take the witness stand at his joint trial here with Welby Hunt for the murder of C. C. Ivy Toms, victim of a drugstore hold-up.

random after "Charley" had put us in a nose dive from 15,000 feet." Greeted by Throng. In addition to the official welcoming committee from the city and chamber of commerce, a large gathering of distinguished Atlantans were on hand to greet the flier when he landed. Included in the welcoming committee were Milton Dargatzis, Jr., president of the chamber of commerce; Gregory Bowden, chairman of the chamber's aviation committee; Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the chamber, and Lieutenant Edgar H. Glenn, air officer of Georgia Tech. Others on hand to cheer the bold aviator as he landed were Postmaster E. K. Large and a large group of aeronautic enthusiasts.

Flew Here From Macon. Chamberlin flew to Atlanta from Macon, where he spent Monday night on his tour over the nation in the tiny biplane. A busy day was put in by the flier before the colorful event of the night at the Biltmore hotel. Early in the program Chamberlin delivered an address to the students of the aviation school at Georgia Tech. Here the flier gave a full description of his epochal flight to Germany.

Following this, Chamberlin became the hero of the pupils of Atlanta public schools, when he spoke to the great assembly in the city auditorium Tuesday afternoon. The veteran exponent of practical aviation is interested in developing a small plane for commercial and other forms of air travel. In his series of talks throughout the day he expressed this viewpoint. His flight is considered a practical demonstration of the possibilities offered in developing a small plane for long distance flying.

Chamberlin's visit to Atlanta was sponsored by the chamber of commerce, the aviation committee of the city council and the chapter of the National Aeronautic association.

Culberson has been identified as one of the pair of negroes who held up Ed Green in his restaurant on West Fair street sometime ago.

HOUSE DECLINES TO OPPOSE SUBS

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—By a margin of one vote the house foreign affairs committee refused today to approve the Frothingham resolution to place congress on record as favoring the abolition of submarines by international agreement. Six members voted against the proposal, five for it and ten were not recorded.

Leading the fight against the resolution, Chairman Porter declared that the submarine in many instances was the sole weapon of defense for smaller nations against large ones. He added that the proposal would be "more than an empty gesture" because it asked small nations to abolish the undersea craft "we are strengthening our own defense by weakening theirs."

The resolution, sponsored by Representative Frothingham, republican, Massachusetts, would have expressed the sense of congress as favoring the United States "continue to use efforts to bring about" discontinuance of submarine building throughout the world.

SWINE GROWERS MEET IN ATHENS

Athens, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—Three hundred interested farmers and swine growers attended the first "swine-feeders' day" held Tuesday at the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

Following the invocation by Dr. E. L. Hill, Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the college, welcomed the visitors and expressed the hope that the occasion might be made into an annual affair at the institution.

Dr. Soule pointed out that hogs had effected a "comeback" in value, from $167,000,000 in 1922 to $350,000,000 during the present year. His message, in substance, was that "brains and spirit, mixed with the best feed rations produce a profit to the hog raiser."

D. K. Young, president of the Swine Feeders association, in response to the address of Dr. Soule, expressed his appreciation in the cooperation of the state college and declared that while the hog industry is at a low ebb at the present time, despite the higher valuation, it will actually recover to "join the ranks of profitable industries," of the Georgia farmer.

Other speakers told the gathering that intelligent "investigation" work was necessary, pointing to the need for cheaper production in order to meet competition in raising swine.

Professor W. S. Rice delivered a resume of the feeding investigations carried on at the state college and showed that a ration of buttermilk and cornbread made the most economical gain-producing combination, while cotton seed meal and ground alfalfa produced the least.

P. W. Simmons, of Swift & Company, set forth the relation of the producer and the consumer, telling the meeting that hogs stand fourth in agricultural rank and the price fluctuates about the least of any farm commodity marketed. He declared that foreign countries are trying to get out of hog-production because of presiding low prices at present, and in summing up declared:

"We have reached the peak of production and from now on prices will tend to go up."

GEORGE M. HOPE SEES VICTORY

Heifetz Program Caters To Wants Of All Classes

One of the most original programs ever offered Atlanta is announced by Jascha Heifetz for his concert here Friday night. It is unique in its combination of classic brilliance and popular melody and it is safe to declare that never has an artist selected a list of numbers to suit so wide a variety of taste.

Opening with "Chaconne," by Vitali, the young artist goes from this into the tremendously difficult, but effective "Symphonie Espagnole," by Lalo. This is followed by a group of Catholic variety, including an arrangement of Ponce's "Estrellita," by Heifetz himself; Schubert's Rondo, arranged by Freidberg; Debussy's "La Fille aux Cheveux de Lin," and "Perpetuum Mobile," by Novacek.

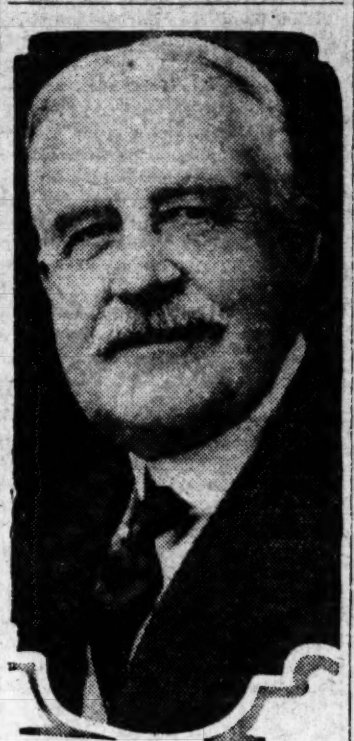

"Chopin's Nocturne in E flat and the introduction and transcriptions, by Sarasate, complete the set program.

Heifetz is known as extremely generous with encores and these are anticipated as forming a delightful part of his performance. He insists, however, that his audience does not call for encores until the first half of his program is over and the second devoted to lighter selections is reached.

Seats for the concert went on sale Tuesday at the Cable Piano company, with the demand reported as unusually brisk. Heifetz comes as the fourth attraction of this season's "Artist Series," sponsored by the southern music bureau. The seat sale will continue at the Cable place on North Broad street until the night of the performance when the box office will be moved to the auditorium.

GEORGE M. HOPE SEES VICTORY

With the eve the Fulton county primary elections reached, Captain George M. Hope, candidate for reelection to the board of county commissioners, Tuesday expressed confidence in receiving the full support of voters of Fulton county have shown him during his past seven years in office.

CAPTAIN GEORGE M. HOPE.

"Now, more than ever, am I interested in seeing the improvements for highways and sanitation that have claimed my tireless efforts during recent years carried into effect," Captain Hope stated in commenting on the work that faces the county board of commissioners. Much of this work has been carried to the point where all that is needed is the continued guidance of favorable and well-experienced hands to attain its speedy completion.

Announcing for his platform that of continued activity along the lines fostered during the seven years spent as a member of the board of county commissioners, Captain Hope declared his record was an open book for all who wanted to review the accomplishments on file at the county offices.

"While my platform will be one of increased activity along the policies already outlined in actual performance, there is much in the way of new developments and completion of incipient developments that requires attention," Captain Hope asserted.

"Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts, which I have supported from the beginning, are now to be put into effect. In like manner the paving of Luckie and Lee streets must be carried to completion. I want to be able to throw my support toward realizing the proposed improvements of Juniper, Ashby, West Peachtree and other streets.

"Another important feature that I have urged and am anxious to see carried to a finish is the absolute fire protection for districts outside of the city. In the county my interest is also centered in seeing the county school teachers obtain the higher salaries they justly deserve. This interest on my part is a natural one, inasmuch as I fostered the movement for increasing the salaries of city school teachers when I was president of the Atlanta school board."

Captain Hope stressed as a part of the work that must be carried on by the county commissioners, the proper provision for sanitation, with extension of the sewerage system and the solution of the disposal plant problem. "These deserving improvements should be taken care of as we have endeavored to take care of them in the past, with an eye always to the most economical administration of county funds by preventing expenditures where they are not warranted."

"A business man," concluded Captain Hope, "my record speaks for itself. Modesty forbids my dwelling upon that subject."

This country already enjoys the finest and lowest cost system of transportation in the world—yet the owners and managers (by expending the above sum in 1927, in addition to the enormous charges for repair and upkeep) are striving constantly and earnestly to make it even better.

During 1927, the L. & N. spent $16,400,000 for improvements necessary to keep pace with modern requirements; and it has authorized and contracted for the sum of $18,000,000 for similar betterments during 1928.

ADOPTION OF STATE BIRD IS SUGGESTED BY ATLANTA CLUB

Adoption of a "Georgia State Bird" from one of three species—red headed Woodpecker, Brown thrasher and purple martin—has been recommended by the Atlanta Bird club, it was announced Tuesday by Miss Berann Jarrard, secretary, following the regular semi-monthly meeting of the club Monday night. All three of the birds are said to make their nests in Georgia and are "state residents."

The recommendation is to be brought before the Federation of Women's Clubs throughout the state by Mrs. Kate Green Hess, president of the Fifth District Federation of Women's Clubs, who attended the bird club meeting at which the proposal was made, it was stated.

Acceptance of a 100-acre tract of land on Marietta road to be used as a bird sanctuary was another feature of the meeting. The offer was extended to the club by the DuPont Powder company. Entertainment of the gathering was provided by Mrs. Earle Greene, who presented a number of musical selections.

Members of the Atlanta Bird club will make a field trip in pursuing their bird studies this Sunday. The party will leave from the home of Carol Whitaker, 279 Tenth street, club headquarters, and will explore the Rocky Creek section, near Vinings, Georgia.

CIGARETTES, CIGARS STOLEN FROM STORES

Two negroes snatched three cartons of cigarettes and a box of cigars from the store of I. Sweet, at 228 Butler street, and escaped Tuesday afternoon, according to a report by Patrolmen Davis and Denney.

The Nifty Sandwich Shoppe, at 157 Spring street, N. W., was robbed of $15 worth of cigarettes and cigars, according to a report by Call Officers John H. Crankshaw and G. C. Hughes.

Three suits of clothes, an overcoat, a wrist watch, an alarm clock, and a check for $25 were stolen from H. H. Harris, of 466 Peachtree street, according to a report to detectives.

Patrolmen Acre and Dodd reported finding a lunch room at 1188 Capitol avenue open early this morning, but so far as could be learned nothing was missing.

The Air Waves!

BY WILL SMITH.

"Symphonette Romantique." Should you hear this number announced on the air listen while it is being offered for you. We heard it Tuesday night during the Stromberg-Carlson hour over KDKA. And through this beautiful number ran the strain of a popular hit of the present day.

The effect was most pleasing, for we like "Did You Mean It?" and we liked "Symphonette Romantique" also. And another taken from the Stromberg-Carlson treasure chest which was especially good was "A Vision of Salome" (Lampe). Almost one could see Salome dancing, dancing before Herod and finally asking for the head of John the Baptist. She gains his reluctant consent and the prize is brought to her. Her dance of remorse.

"I'll Think of You" and "The Hours I Spent With You" were given by the quintet, excellent male voices which every week please us as well as any.

On the air. We must also mention "La Baya" because of its Chinese atmosphere, and Arensky's "Cocotte," the Russian's idea of this girl put to music.

"Rain" is popular. During the Eveready hour we heard it especially arranged as a fox trot and played by the orchestra conducted by Nat Shilkret. The north wind whistled around the corners and the steady downpour of heavenly moisture in big buckets full seemed to threaten to wash away the musicians in the flood. Anything as realistic as that should have been good, would you not say? It was.

From the little church around the corner in New York a tenor soloist, Craig Campbell by name, went to the organ and then to the piano. As a soloist, he sang "Mary," "My Dream of You," "You and Love Will Always Find a Way." While we did not prefer his selections above others we might name, he has an excellent voice.

The composer of "Dance of the Dolls," which has been played everywhere recently, gave us another during the hour which was in much the same tempo, "Dance of the Jack," we understood it to be. Not a lot different from the doll dance.

And right here we want to criticize the Eveready hour announcer. He was the hardest announcer to understand we remember having heard in months. His voice was strong enough and well modulated, but decidedly indistinct. As we were listening in from the local station, we can't find an excuse for this.

Before we close this chapter, we are turning to WJW. The program we hear is sponsored by exhibitors at the home beautiful exposition at Music hall. It is 8:35 p. m. central standard time. A solo, "Little Log Cabin of Dreams," is next with accompaniment by the Cossacks. Interference from some station on a wave length just below WJW is bringing in a heterodyne beat. WGN's carrier (on the high side) also carries the beat. It is possible they are interfering with each other. But we believe WGN (on a frequency between WGN and WJW) is causing all the trouble. The interference is causing a hushiness. Weather forecasts follow, then sport dope by Tom Swaine as our Ingerson says 9:04 p. m. C. S. T. The heterodyne beat is still present.

The Ipana Troubadours will work fast tonight when they relate nine dreams to the radio audience of the red network in 30 minutes, starting at 8 o'clock. Among the dreams will be Hawaiian crooning and guitars in "Dancing and Dreaming," "Little Log Cabin of Dreams," "Dream of Love," "Bungalow of Dreams," "I'll See You in My Dreams," "Dream Kisses," "Was It a Dream," "Heartaches and Dreams," a vocal specialty and "Smiles," which always opens and closes the Ipana programs.

Get this novel and promising half hour from WSB or others of the red chain.

Then at 9 o'clock will come the Columbia Phonograph hour with celebrities, including Sophie Breslau, before the microphone. This hour, which is available to Atlanta fans over WOR, KMOX, KOIL, WAIU and other Columbia system stations, 17 in all, is one of the best weekly hours of entertainment on the air. Last Wednesday night we heard Segar Ellis and other Columbia stars. Tonight we will hear a dozen and more featured recording artists in person in a program with its light moments as well as its real musical excellence. We have found that KMOX and WAIU are the most dependable stations for this broadcast.

Other programs which appear promising might include: The Champion Sparkers at 7 o'clock over KDKA with Ed Smalls featured. Music famous composers will be offered at 8 o'clock during the Kolster hour over KMOX, WAIU and WOR. The Goodrich hour will open at 8:30 o'clock over WSB. Then National Grand Opera hour this week will be "Nimiko San," over WSB at 9:30 o'clock. And the Ipana Troubadours will be on at 7:30 o'clock over KDKA.

Southern Railway to Move 1,200 Workers Here; Building Enlargements Are Planned

Headquarters Will Remain in Washington, But Several Departments Will Be Placed Here.

Transfer of certain departments and approximately 1,200 employees of the Southern Railway company from Washington, D. C., to Atlanta, and the subsequent addition to the present offices of the company here to care for the increase, was announced Tuesday by Fairfax Harrison, president, through R. B. Pegram, vice president, at Atlanta.

The executive headquarters of the company will be retained in Washington, the announcement said, but offices of the car accountant, the auditors of freight, passenger and station accounts and the overcharge claim agent will be placed here, since the work of these departments require that they be nearer the field than is now the case, the announcement said.

The removal of these departments to Atlanta was actuated, the announcement stated, by the action of the United States government in taking over the Washington properties of the Southern railway, thus expediting the removal of these branches of the system here.

Half of Total Force.
The roster of 1,200 jobs to be removed from Washington to Atlanta means more than half of the employees now stationed in Washington, according to the announcement, and it is estimated that approximately $5,000,000 will be added to the local pay roll as a result of the transfer.

While announcement of the action of the local offices contained no details, it is understood that the enlargement probably will be made on the section of the building lying between Nelson street and Peters street. It is thought that four stories added to this two-story building and an additional story added to the Mitchell street building would increase the enlargements.

It was estimated by real estate men Tuesday that these additions would entail expenditure of $1,000,000.

Officers of the departments to be removed here are J. K. Rathbun, superintendent of car equipment; W. Henderson Hallman, prominent Atlanta, was appointed by Mayor Walter Sims as head of a committee to make a determined effort to bring the executive offices of the Southern Railway to Atlanta from Washington. When Mayor L. N. Ragsdale assumed office he renewed the appointment. Mr. Hallman also has received the cooperation in all his plans of the chamber of commerce, and his committee has been active in efforts to persuade the Southern to make the move. While the plans of the Southern include only a part of what was asked, leaders of the chamber of commerce and city officials Tuesday expressed the opinion that the efforts of all parts of the system, it is estimated that in their new location they can save from 24 to 48 hours in production of the units of their work as compared with concentration in Washington as heretofore. The experience of the general freight office, where work problems are similarly limited, confirms this estimate.

"This decision will mean the transfer from Washington to Atlanta of more than half the forces now maintained at Washington, or nearly 1,200 officers and employees. For the accommodation of those so transferred, an adequate and convenient addition to the Atlanta office building, while for the accommodation of the executive offices a suitable new building court.

B. L. Buzz, president of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Coast railroad, Tuesday was named foreman of the new Fulton county grand jury at the organization session of the March term. J. N. Ely is secretary.

The new jury was charged by Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior five offices a suitable new building court.

When those decisions were made it was realized that the process might be carried further, but further action at that time was restrained by the large investment in the Washington office building, an investment which could not be liquidated pending the settlement of long debated proposals for the development of a new group of public buildings in the national capital.

Proposals Now Mature.
"These proposals have now matured into plans; and under an act of congress the government has made provision to acquire for such a purpose all the private property in the area which includes the Southern Railway office building. An immediate decision as to what is the future interest of the company in the premises is, therefore, not only possible but now necessary."

"During the generation that the Southern has been established in Washington it has been demonstrated that the city admirably suits the needs and those of the public as a convenient executive headquarters, and in that respect there will be no change; but those portions of the total roster heretofore maintained in Washington which can more efficiently be worked elsewhere will now be transferred."

"The offices so affected are those which assemble and digest the raw material of railroad accounting. In that class of railroad work, efficiency being measured largely by time, the standard is in manufacturing to conduct operations where the raw materials can be assembled most promptly, as well as at a minimum cost."

IRONSIDE TO SPEAK AT MID-DAY SERVICE

Calling on a large audience to "place yourselves in an attitude to receive from God the things for which you ask in prayer," Dr. M. E. Dodd, nationally-known Baptist minister and pastor of the First Baptist church of Shreveport, La., Tuesday delivered the noon-day address at the union services now being held at the First Baptist church.

Hundreds attended the meeting and were attentive listeners as Dr. Dodd delivered his forceful and convincing sermon.

As the result of a change in the program for today's service, Harry A. Ironside, of Oakland, Calif., noted evangelist and Bible conference director, will occupy the pulpit instead of Dr. J. C. Masses, of Boston. He will speak on "What is Saving Faith?"

Dr. A. W. Reeves, pastor of the Grant Park Baptist church, is directing the singing and Miss Helen Schaid is presiding at the piano.

Services beginning at 12:15 o'clock each day and continuing until 12:45 o'clock are being held under auspices of the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association and the Atlanta Christian council, of which James Morton is executive secretary.

gram was E. Foster and his "wonder dog," Peggy. Joseph R. Wolfe, president of the club, presided.

Seen Thru a Keyhole

Did you ever look through a keyhole? Then you'll remember that only one eye can be used to advantage.

Many people, who rarely have occasion to peep through a keyhole, are nevertheless using only one eye. Effective vision is only obtained when both eyes work together properly focused.

An examination may reveal to you that you are, figuratively speaking, looking through a keyhole.

cost. It follows that, other things being equal, the best site for such work by the Southern is at that one of its terminals which is most conveniently accessible from all stations on its lines, from New Orleans, Memphis and St. Louis, as well as from the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. After careful study of the entire map of the Southern to this end it has been decided to establish at Atlanta the offices of the auditors of freight, passenger and station accounts, of the car accountant, and of the overcharge claim agent.

Because those offices deal with waybills, car records, etc., assembled from all parts of the system, it is estimated that in their new location they can save from 24 to 48 hours in production of the units of their work as compared with concentration in Washington as heretofore. FLUSH THE KIDNEYS BEFORE BREAKFAST

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back aches, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular in passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.—(adv.)

Lewis Successfully Defends Title Here

Paul Jones Succumbs To Deadly Headlocks of Mat Champion in Fast Match; Sauer Wins.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Mr. Ed (Strangler) Lewis came to town Tuesday, throttled Paul Jones, effectively two out of three falls in less than an hour at the city auditorium Tuesday night, retired to the privacy of his room at the Ansley hotel, packed his grip and left town with his world's heavyweight wrestling championship intact, without ever causing it even so much as a tremor during the bout between the two wrestling gentlemen.

But it was a good wrestling match, as wrestling matches go. The champion, Mr. Lewis, apparently in fine physical shape, had the situation well in hand at all times, but there were occasions when he was in something of a tight fix.

In St. Louis recently Lewis defeated Scissors Joe Stecher to settle all doubt, argument, wrangling between the two as to who was world champion. Mr. Lewis failed to win his famous, or infamous, headlock, and Mr. Stecher his scissors. But for all that, some people don't yet understand everything about that St. Louis match. Last night for instance:

First Cash Customer: "Yeah, Lewis defeated Stecher for the title not long ago."

Second C.: "Where? Here?"

P. C. C.: "No, in Kansas City."

Promoter Contos had a fair crowd—good, it was, compared to those at the last three or four matches—on hand to watch the champion and his locally popular Texan perform. Lewis, weighing 224, threw Jones, weighing 205, for the first fall in 30 minutes, five and two-fifths seconds, in a series of headlocks. It took more than one because Jones has a slender neck, a slender neck, that is, for wrestlers, and jumped out of the champion's clutches. But frequently. But Jones finally weakened and went down. The second down came after 10 minutes, seven and two-fifths seconds and was accomplished by Lewis in the same manner as the first.

Hook Scissors. Jones tried frequently to apply his well-known hook scissors, a queer but effective combination of wrapping one's legs around the middle portion of an opponent's body and squeezing long and lustily. Lewis was careful never to allow the Texan to get behind him, which would have allowed Jones to work himself into a favorable position for the application of his scissors hold.

For about the first 15 minutes of the affair both the behemoths milled around the ring, heads clasped behind each other's head, before either hit the mat. Paul eluded two or three attempts by Lewis to apply his headlock. Then Jones got Lewis on the floor, tried to wrap his legs around the Strangler, but was highly unsuccessful.

During this time Mr. Lewis shifted his head-lock system of attack from the neck to the middle or Mr. Jones' anatomy. They were soon up and mulling in the middle of the ring again.

"Grapevine." At one time the Texas lad secured a hold known in the vernacular as a "grapevine," whatever that is. To apply it one must sit on the floor, bend one's opponent's arm double, clamping the leg over it securely. This, when applied for some few minutes, cuts off the circulation and causes the arm to become numb. Jones secured this hold on Lewis' left arm, with which the latter applies his headlocks. Lewis was very desirous of extricating his arm. He even went so far as to get up off the floor, on his feet, while Mr. Jones was suspended from Lewis' arm, head down. He hung on, however, and Lewis went back to the floor. Shortly thereafter, he managed to get out of the hold.

The match was fairly fast and highly pleasing to the assembled cash customers.

In a one-hour preliminary affair Pete Sauer, former mat champion, and becomingly attired in grey trunks and a rich coat of tan, slugged at, kicked, gouged, wrestled with a Mike Benson, of Butte, Montana, for 25 minutes, 48 and one-fifth seconds before throwing the Montanan with a series of front head and arm locks.

Sunset Park, where 2,500 fans can be accommodated, will be the scene of another all-negro boxing show Thursday night, featuring Battling Jackson, middleweight champion of the south, against Benny Williams, of New York. Kid Davis, old-time fighter who has entered the list in competition with Billy Hooper, announces he is planning a greater entertainment than his usual, and is stopping off here en route to Cuba.

Kid Davis is looking around for suitable preliminaries.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

By The Associated Press.

Photographers bobbed up from every side and autograph collectors besieged Babe Ruth Tuesday as the home run king took his first baseball workout of the season with the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg.

In the clean, sun-drenched clubhouse of his hotel as soon as the workout was completed but not before he had driven the ball out of the park twice in batting practice. He indulged in a short fielding practice session along with batting a few.

Praise. Tris Speaker crashed four nice hits at Fort Myers, Fla., and drew the prize of Cactus Jack.

Bill McKechnie, St. Louis National pitcher, proved the first to use his pruning knife in Florida, sending Jimmy Braxton, infielder, to Houston of the Texas.

Muddy Ruel has officially signed his Senator contract and Washington now has its full squad intact.

Slow. A six-inning practice game featured the work of the Cincinnati Reds at Orlando, while Brooklyn continued to set a slow starting pace at Clearwater.

In other Florida camps nothing of particular interest was recorded, the work being purely routine in getting ready for the exhibition struggles that start early.

At Augusta, Ga., the Giants went through a full nine-inning game during the afternoon between the regulars and Yarnigans. Jackson hit a homer and Andy Cohen, the former University of Alabama star, got a couple of singles. Terry reported today.

A nine-inning practice game also was staged in the Chicago Americans' camp at Shreveport, La. Harry McCurdy, catcher, reported during the day.

The workouts of the Cleveland Indians were extended to three hours daily at New Orleans. Manager Rogers Peckinpaugh seemed well pleased with the way his squad is rounding into shape. Carl Lind is showing up especially well at short stop.

Pearl Robles, Calif. March 6.—(AP) Clearing skies today brought out the Pittsburgh Pirates, National league champions, for a stiff two and a half hour workout. Rain held them in doors yesterday.

A short batting session was followed by a long infield workout for the regulars and a shorter one for the recruits. Manager Don Bush said that time lost because of rain would necessitate that he give most of his attention from now on to the conditioning of the regulars. He postponed the opening Yarnigan game to Thursday.

Jim Lindsey, a pitcher from San Antonio, threw a sharp drop which had the hitters driving the ball into the ground.

Sarazen Winner Of $5,000 Open

Nassau, Bahamas, March 6.—(United News.)—Gene Sarazen today won the $5,000 Bahamas open golf championship by taking the playoff from Johnny Farrell with a birdie at the third hole. They had tied at 132 for 36 holes of medal play which ended today.

Scores of the other leaders were: Bobby Cruikshank, 136; Bill Mehlhorn, 137; Art Lemane, 139; Harry Cooper, 140; and Jack Hutchinson, 143. MacDonald Smith, winning the prize for the best nine and 18 holes, equalled the course record with a brilliant 64.

Hunter and Shields Easily Win Matches

Palm Beach, Fla., March 6.—(AP) Francis T. Hunter, New York, second ranking tennis player of the nation, and Frank X. Shields, New York city, national junior titlist, easily won their matches this morning in the Palm Beach Tennis club's 18th annual Florida tennis championship being played on the Royal Poinciana clay courts.

Hunter defeated Richard Harris West Palm Beach, 6-0, 6-2, while Shields was defeating E. J. Gilberti, Indianapolis, Ind., 6-0, 6-0.

George Voigt Wins First Round Match

Palm Beach, Fla., March 6.—(United News.)—George Voigt, Washington, D. C., medalist in the qualifying rounds of the Palm Beach golf tournament, eliminated H. D. Bend 5 and 4 in the first round of match play today.

W. B. Langford, Chicago, defeated O. L. Bailey, Toledo, 5 and 4, and E. T. Martin, Philadelphia, defeated Philip de Ronde, New York, 3 and 1. Arthur Hakes, Fredonia, N.Y., eliminated R. Myers, New York, 3 and 1.

HOP INDIAN NOW LEADING BUNION DERBY

BY J. S. POWERS.

Victorville, Calif., March 6.—(United News.)—Nicholas Quomawhu, sturdy Hopi Indian long-distance runner, tonight held the lead in C. C. Pyle's Los Angeles to New York marathon.

Although he has yet to win his first heat in the $45,000 derby which started Sunday, Quomawhu has been running along steadily and has registered the best average time for the trip so far.

The Indian has covered the 90.7 miles from Los Angeles to this town on the edge of the Mojave desert in 12 hours, 35 minutes and 15 seconds.

Fin Second. In second place was Nestor Erickson, of Finland, who led the way today's heat, over the most difficult stretch of the course up to this point. Erickson ran the 44 miles from Bloomington to Victorville in 6 hours, 47 minutes and 20 seconds. The route led over the Mojave desert which rises to a height of 5,000 feet above sea level as it winds through the Sierra Nevada mountains and on to the desert floor.

Erickson's time for the Los Angeles to Victorville race was 13:29:30. Olli Watinen, of Finland, was third, in 13:49:02.

The prize money in the transcontinental race will be paid to the men who travel to Yankee stadium in the shortest elapsed time and on the basis of laps won.

Cotton States Schedule Made

New Orleans, La., March 6.—(AP) The 125-gumder of the Cotton States league opens this year on April 26, the first half under the split season closing June 23 and the last half under double-headers on Labor day.

President Frank A. Scott, of Vicksburg, Miss., announced at conclusion of a meeting of the club owners and their representatives here today.

Adoption of the schedule and action on routine matters completed before the club owners was completed with dispatch. The league managers agreed to stay within the salary limit in engaging players.

Confidence that the league was entering upon what would prove to be its most successful since the circuit was organized was expressed by President Scott.

American Woman Skater Is Second

London, March 6.—(AP)—Flashing over the ice like an ethereal nymph garbed in emerald green, Little Sonia Henie, of Norway, won her second world's championship in women's figure skating today, with the graceful, spirited American, Maribel Vinson, of Boston, in second place. Miss Henie scored 1,801.4 and Miss Vinson 1,770 points.

The speed and daring, and the perfection of the figures the little Norwegian girl cut out on the ice counted heavily, while her jumps with two complete revolutions in the air and her spins on flat skates were revelations to Londoners, who were seeing their first figure skating championship in many years. Miss Henie repeated her recent victory in the Olympic championships at St. Moritz.

ANOTHER DIPLOMAT

The great diplomats of the earth are not all in the service of some government. A few operate on their own.

As WHIRL Kline, the able young golf pro, came out of his golf shop at the La Grac course, Miami Beach, a tall and gangling negro caddy, named Jim, made his address:

"I wouldn't go out with nobody else yestiddy, Mr. Willie," he said; "That so?" said Kline.

"Yassir," Jim continued. "It ain't the money, but I sho' likes to see you play them iron shots and them short pitches. I've caddied for Mr. Hagen and Mr. Sarazen and Mr. Farrell, but they can't play 'em like you can. There ain't nobody can. It ain't the money. It's jes' watchin' you play."

P. S. You know who got the job from then on.

The New Yale Coach. Some time ago I watched Mal Stevens, the new Yale football coach, working with a backfield squad. He took it for granted that the men at work wanted to play football and did not need any driving. There was no sarcasm, no cursing, no hawking out.

"All right, Eddie; that didn't work, but we'll try it again." "This is the way," "Never mind, Bill; we'll take one shot. Don't let that bother you."

It was a busy afternoon of hard work and there was no loafing. Stevens was giving all he had to the squad, and the squad was giving all they had to Stevens. He failed to get noisy or excited or sore. But he was getting somewhere.

Ted Jones was much the same way. I think Yale players had more fun in the drudgery of training under Ted than most football players ever know. They had to work hard, but there was no slave-master stuff looked on.

On Conceding Putts. Dear Mr. Rice: While it is to be admitted that wh— is one man's food is another man's poison, I have solved, so far as honorable golfers are concerned, the question of conceding putts. To begin with, I never ask an opponent to concede me a putt.

If no putts are conceded, there is a lot of waste time in holing those of six, eight and ten inches in a four-ball match, especially when a flock of "creeping pestilences" are at work. Yet conceding putts of twenty inches or two feet is worse than not conceding six-inch putts.

"Gimme that?" is at times an embarrassing question. "No, you'd better hole that one," is a delicate rejoinder.

Mr. Crab's solution is at least as good as any other—most of the time. Any concession that works beyond ten, twelve or possibly fourteen inches on a self-concession is too elastic to be allowed any further free rein.

Twelve inches should be about the limit on the long side. But the conscientious type won't operate much beyond six or eight.

Playing one day against one of the best putters you'll see anywhere, I happened to concede him a putt of about eighteen inches. "No," he said, "I don't want those conceded. I want to practice holing them." Which is one of the reasons that he is one of the best putters you will see anywhere.

Tunney's main opponent for the last months has been a masbie. It will probably be a tougher opponent than any he will meet in the next few months. There may be a tougher opponent to be than a hostile masbie, but not in any country where king clubs are scarce.

$20,000 Said To Be Salary Of Mound Ace

List of Holdouts Cut Down as Strikeout King Wins

Pen.

Tampa, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Dizzy Vance, strikeout king of National league pitchers, signed his 1928 contract with the Brooklyn Dodgers at Clearwater today, further trimming the ranks of remaining holdout major leaguers.

Frank York, counsel for the Brooklyn club, agreed to terms with Vance, but did not make the terms public. Unofficially, it is understood that Vance's demands for a two-year contract at $20,000 a year were met.

Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn club, expressed himself as gratified with Vance's agreement, although delay in signing his contract is not hindering Dizzy's conditioning. He has been working out with the club ever since training began two weeks ago. Vance, himself said he was glad that all matters had been arranged, as he now has nothing to worry about except winning ball games for his club.

All Are Silent. No comment would be made of reports that additional terms sought by Vance were that he would be permitted to play golf on his off days during the baseball season, a practice usually banned by baseball pilots. Vance has spent the winter at Clearwater golfing and announced to the Associated Press several weeks ago that he had requested Manager Robinson to write into his contract that golfing privileges would be permitted him.

Although no other holdouts signed today, the remaining few are understood to be ready to talk business. Waite Hoyt, Yankee holdout pitcher, failed to reach the camp at St. Petersburg, but is expected daily and Manager Huggins is optimistic over success of the "sales talk" he has prepared.

Flint Klem, of the Cardinals, has signed, but latest advices were that Earl Mays and Ede Dohmke, of the Reds, had not come to terms at Orlando. Catcher Muddy Ruel, of the Senators, handed in his signed contract to Clark Griffith at Tampa, but this was considered only a formality, as terms virtually were agreed to sometime ago.

S.S.A.A. Planning For Ball Season

Laying a foundation for what appears as the best season in baseball in its nine years of existence, representatives of the different churches of the city for the S. S. A. A. held a very enthusiastic meeting at the A. A. C. Tuesday night.

From indications, three leagues will be formed this season instead of two. To date, 12 teams have entered which automatically closes the two original leagues. Several other churches signified their intention of joining the association and it is expected that the already long list will be enlarged at the business meeting next Tuesday night.

Many of last year's teams have entered, including Grace Methodist, winner of the championship last season and runner-up in the championship city series.

Schedules, playing fields and other important matters will be discussed at the next meeting.

Gilbert, Pence and Poole Expected by Crackers Today

Johnny Brock Is Expected On Saturday

Paul Strand Gets in Tuesday, Too Late for Workout, Reports Today.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Came yesterday morning, Tuesday, bringing the second day's work of Atlanta's baseball playing Crackers. Paul Strand, big outfielder from Portland, Oregon, sunshine and a light batting practice.

The weather was somewhat cooler than on Monday, when the Crackers began training, but there were no signs of a 30-degree temperature present. Bert Niehoff sent his squad through the customary procedure of tossing the ball around, "slugging" flies and working with the medicine ball. Towards the last of the work-out, which held forth from 11 to 2 o'clock, the batting cage was hauled down and the players picked up a few grounders and threw the ball around the diamond.

The pitching in this instance was done by infielders while the pitchers did the fielding. Bert is of the opinion that it's too early yet for hurlers to begin putting the ball across the plate. And he's right. It's disheartening for a pitcher to throw the ball down to the batter in easy fashion, which he must do or have a very sore arm, and watch the latter meet it squarely to send it sailing far and wide. An infielder isn't supposed to be a pitcher, has no professional pride, and just puts them over.

Reinforcements. Strong reinforcements are looked for this morning. Walter Gilbert, steady, methodical, dependable first baseman of last season, is expected to arrive with an unsigned contract somewhere around 9 o'clock, sign it, and report for duty.

Jim Poole, Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy's first baseman of a couple of seasons ago, last year with Minneapolis and St. Paul, is looked for this morning. Also Russell Pence, right-handed pitcher for whom the Crackers traded Cliff Markle to Dallas last December. Johnny Brock, leading Cracker catcher, will leave St. Louis Thursday morning drive here through the country, reaching Atlanta Saturday morning. Thus the Crackers management announced Tuesday.

Paul Strand, expected to do considerable covering of ground in the outfield for Atlanta this season, and considerable damage to other clubs' pitchers, records at the plate made his appearance at the Spiller offices around noon Tuesday, but did not work out. He will don a uniform and report at 11 o'clock this morning. J. H. Adcock, right-handed pitcher, and Carl Blithen, left-hander, the first from Augusta and the latter from Macon, came bustling into town during the afternoon and will be on the scene today. A semi-pro from Acworth, Ga., Burnett by name, and a pitcher, was present for Tuesday morning's workout.

Zoeller. The case of Frankie Zoeller, diminutive outfielder, is still in the balance. Tuesday morning Colonel Spiller received a query from Birmingham asking the price on Zoeller. Mr. Spiller wired it back, but at a late hour Tuesday night had heard nothing from the Barons. But the colonel is still firm about selling Frankie and expects to complete a deal within the next few days.

One day's work served to loosen up those in uniform considerably, and the gang Tuesday morning about with pep and abandon. During the morning Bert Niehoff was knocking long flies to the outfield, with pitchers, infielders and outfielders alike chasing the ball. Bert placed the oversized Tom Angley at the foot of the right-field bank, which is very steep. He knocked balls to Tom frequently, and each time was forced to make a charge up the hill. "I've got to get that fat off him some way," said Manager Niehoff. Tom weighs 212 pounds at present. But with the use of rubber shirts and numerous jaunts around the field, added to daily charges up the hill in right field, Tom should be down to 190 or thereabouts in very short order.

Work this week will begin at 11 o'clock each morning and last until 2 o'clock, or in that neighborhood. Be-

A CRACKER A DAY

TO-DAY RELL JACKSON SPILLER, President.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of biographical sketches of Cracker players to appear daily as announced Sunday in The Constitution. Since announcement was made Sunday there appears to have been something of a scramble for a like series. This series, however, will deal with each Cracker and his record in the summer, while playing baseball.)

This Cracker, mayhap, doesn't disport himself during the summer days in an Atlanta uniform, but he's the most important Cracker of them all. It's Colonel Rell Jackson Spiller, the man behind the check-book at Spiller field.

Colonel Spiller assumed full control of the Crackers a month or so after the 1926 season began. That was following the year in which Atlanta won the pennant, and Dan Michalove was in charge. In 1926, the Crackers finished in fifth place and in the same place last year. But during the winter just past—the weather man says it hasn't passed yet, but Silver Bill Stiteney seems to think it has—Colonel Spiller, with the aid of Bert Niehoff, manager, has turned loose considerable money, scrapped last year's club, and seems to have in the making something better than a fifth place club in 1928.

The colonel is of considerable height and build, but is youthful for his age. Mr. Spiller won't reveal how old he is for some reason unknown to all but himself. Upon inquiry as to the number of years spent on this earth Mr. Spiller answered: "Well, figure it out for yourself. Take all the peanuts in my storehouse, add 'em up, extract the square root, multiply by the cube root, of the number of cigarettes alongside the peanuts, subtract the number of baseball players I have and divide by the length of a bat. Maybe you'll have it."

The colonel is rather optimistic over his club's chances this season, and believes his boys are coming through. He has spent the money to buy them, and he can't do very much more.

TOM HEENEY CHALLENGES GENE TUNNEY

New York, March 6.—(United News.)—Tom Heenev, New Zealand heavyweight, filed a challenge for a match with Gene Tunney with the New York State Athletic commission today.

The commission accepted the challenge, but placed Heenev as challenger No. 2 because of a previous challenge by Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight.

Charlie Harvey, Heenev's manager, brought along a certified check for $2,500 to go with the challenge, but the board did not accept it.

In the event Johnny Risko should defeat Sharkey Monday night, Heenev automatically would be recognized as the leading challenger.

SHARKEY IS 12-5 FAVORITE OVER RISKO.

New York, March 6.—(United News.)—Jack Sharkey of Boston and Johnny Risko of Cleveland, will arrive here Wednesday to complete training for their heavyweight elimination bout scheduled for 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden Monday night.

Despite the importance of the bout, little interest has been aroused over it in boxing circles. The disappointing result of the Sharkey-Heenev and Delaney-Heenev matches has left little enthusiasm among boxing fans over the heavyweight contenders.

Sharkey has been made a 12-to-5 favorite in the early betting.

Hugo Gets Assistant.

Hugo Besdek, veteran head coach at Penn State college, will have a new assistant to help him next fall with his Nittany Lions. He is Bert Higgins, who was football coach at Washington university, St. Louis.

gifting next week, however, Bert expects to begin an hour or so earlier. And maybe there will be a practice game next week. Baseball will have arrived then certainly.

Good Prelims Are Arranged For Ring Club

Stein and Reid Meet in Semi-Wind-Up of Friday Show.

For the first time since he started staging weekly boxing shows in Atlanta Matchmaker Jimmy Mayson is confident that the preliminary bouts of the weekly card at the Kingside arena Friday night will rival the main event for excitement and thrills.

The reason for that is the fact that Mayson has spared neither trouble nor expense in arranging the opening matches and has secured two such well known battlers as Homer Reid and Battling Stein for the eight-round semi-wind-up. Those boys know their stuff in the matter of slinging gloves and in addition each of the semi-windup boys is inclined to favor slugging tactics.

Ring Sensation.

Stein is the latest pugilistic sensation of Atlanta and if he continues his slam-bang tactics he will soon merit consideration for main event attractions. Reid is almost if not as good as his Friday night rival.

As previously announced Stiles Attaway is meeting Pete Stamaty, of New Orleans, in the 10-round main event of the Friday night card, and it promises to be a slug-fest match from start to finish.

Since Attaway first took up professional boxing under the capable direction of Eddie Hanlon he has shown a marked preference for slugging tactics and practically all of his matches have ended in kayos over the other fellow.

The truth of the matter is that Attaway has been beaten only once since he turned pro and that defeat was through no fault of Attaway's. In a match at Miami the commission doctors stopped the scrap, because Attaway's foe had opened an old cut over his eye and was bleeding prettily.

So far as Attaway and Manager Hanlon were concerned they would have continued the fight indefinitely, but the commission ruled otherwise.

Training.

Since the Miami scrap Attaway has been in constant training and he will enter the ring Friday night in the best condition that he has attained for an Atlanta engagement. Tickets for the Friday night show are on sale at Hack Eibel's billiard parlor.

SHARKEY IS 12-5 FAVORITE OVER RISKO.

New York, March 6.—(United News.)—Jack Sharkey of Boston and Johnny Risko of Cleveland, will arrive here Wednesday to complete training for their heavyweight elimination bout scheduled for 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden Monday night.

Despite the importance of the bout, little interest has been aroused over it in boxing circles. The disappointing result of the Sharkey-Heenev and Delaney-Heenev matches has left little enthusiasm among boxing fans over the heavyweight contenders.

Young Stribling Defeats Wiggins

Cleveland, Ohio, March 6.—(AP)—W. L. "Young" Stribling, Georgia heavyweight, took a 12-round decision from Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, in a slow, close-fought and for the most part listless bout here tonight.

Stribling outboxed Wiggins all the way despite Wiggins' aggressiveness. Stribling landed two hard right crosses to Wiggins' jaw, his straight left was fairly effective, and he had the better of the infighting, during which he held on and punched to the body. There were no knockdowns.

Phil Zwick, of Cleveland and Milwaukee, fought a draw with Jacinto Valdez, Fill in no featherweight, in eight rounds. Gaston Charles, former French bantamweight champion, won on a foul from Joe Lucas, Detroit featherweight, in the fourth round of a scheduled eight-round bout. The blow appeared unintentional.

Advantages and Disadvantages.

There seems to be some dissension regarding a statement made in this column a day or two ago. It may be remembered that we said the training of the Crackers at home seemed false economy. It still seems that way. But there are some arguments on the opposite side of the question. We do not hesitate to give these arguments though they fail to change our point of view of the whole matter.

It is declared that one of the advantages of training at home lies in the fact that the players become accustomed to the use of their own field during playing season and that advantage redounds to their benefit in the home games. There is undoubtedly considerable logic in this conclusion.

Another object of training at home rather than in a warm climate such as Florida or the gulf coast affords is to get the men in shape under conditions similar to the ones they must play under during the early part of the season. That is to say, if the players become used to cold weather they will be able to perform under the conditions of April weather in the middle south without injury to aims and other parts of the anatomy. That is also logic as far as it goes, but it does not appear to go far enough. Beginning with the 15th of April there is likely to be little really cold weather in Atlanta and vicinity. Rain, to be sure, but little cold weather such as is to be found in March throughout this section.

When the Crackers trained at Winter Park in 1925 they were able to assume heavy work by the end of the first week. No manager would dare give the boys anything but light work during the first ten days or two weeks here, even provided the weather is ideal for March.

There are truly some advantages in training at home but they are completely eclipsed by the advantages of training in a climate where the players can get to tip top shape before the season starts in earnest.

Fighter?

The coming of Johnny Jones, second baseman, from Rochester will be watched with interest by the folks who have heard of Johnny's habits as a ball player. The cryptic remark made by George Stallings that "Johnny is a good ball player if you can handle him," arouses interest.

Investigation of the remark brings the conclusion that Johnny is what the boys call a "fighter." In short words, he is a great ball player with a very short temper and a propensity for making trouble. "I like 'em rough," is the reaction of Bert Niehoff to the story. And if one knows Bert his statement does not possess the ego it might appear to have. His meaning is clear. The man who fights is usually the man who is interested in his work. If he can be controlled he will prove his value. Bert has controlled a good many in his decade as a manager.

Crackers Play 5 Big League Outfits Here

Fifteen Spring Games Are Booked for Local Ball Club.

Rell Jackson Spiller, boss of the Atlanta Crackers, has been doing something besides swapping and buying ball players these cold winter days. The pay-off man of the local horseshoe wallpapers has arranged a corking good spring exhibition schedule for his ball diamond. Five major league teams and one international league club will appear here in the early games, besides other outfits. Fifteen games are on the schedule. Heading the list of big time entertainment, the New York Yankees, world's champions of last season, will come to the local lot April 2 to play with Mr. Spiller's boys. Bucky Harris' Washington Senators are next on the program, playing the Crackers on April 3. Then the Brooklyn Robins, headed by Uncle Robinson, who has done much in the way of helping the locals with their ball club this season, are next. The St. Louis Cardinals are the first to make an appearance here. The Cards are booked for the first big time entertainment, playing Niehoff's outfit March 31.

The Crackers will make an on road trip during the spring exhibition season. The locals will journey to Louisville, Ky., to play Joe Guyon's Colonels April 8.

Following is the exhibition schedule released Tuesday by Mr. Spiller:

Chicago, March 6.—(AP)—High runs of 38 to 31 marked the victory of Harry Wood, of Duluth, over Onofrio Lauri, of New York, 125 to 43, in the national pocket billiard tournament tonight. It was Wood's second game and Lauri's first.

Wood played steadily, calling on a safety only once and scratching twice. Lauri played three safeties, scratched once and had a high run of 14.

Atlantan Visits Native Russia

Loewinshon Will Tell The Constitution Readers of Sovietism To Find Unbelievable Change

Joseph Loewinshon, young Atlanta native for The Constitution in the near future.

A strict censorship is maintained by the soviet government on all mail sent out of the country, Loewinshon said, and the custom regulations are exceedingly strict. When he left the country, however, he succeeded in smuggling a number of pictures with which he is to illustrate the articles now being prepared for The Constitution.

Loewinshon's visit to his native country took place in December, 1927, and he has only recently returned to Atlanta. After the post-war revolutions had moved the capital to Moscow and resulted in great growth for the city, Loewinshon suffered a great population slump. It is now back to its pre-war size of about two million persons, Loewinshon said.

Conditions prevailing in Russia are practically unknown to the outside world, he said.

Russia, he pointed out, is the home of the futuristic art that is being cultivated so extensively in America now. It has resulted in square-shaped architecture, somewhat ugly in the opinion of Loewinshon, which architecture is influencing new buildings in Moscow to a large extent. In Leningrad the influence is not so noticeable, but some new buildings are constructed on this style.

Y. M. C. A. DELEGATES TO GATHER IN MACON

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(P)—Fifty or more delegates, representing all of the fourteen Young Men's Christian association units in Georgia, are expected in Macon this week for the ninth annual state Y. M. C. A. convention, to be held Thursday and Friday.

Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory university, is listed as the principal speaker at a banquet on Thursday night given by the directors of the Macon association in compliment to the visiting delegates.

Leaders in Y. M. C. A. work expected to attend include the following: J. W. Patterson, Albany; J. R. Magill, secretary of student work for the southern region; Dr. A. E. Wheeler, state secretary; and H. E. Montague, state boys' secretary.

FITZGERALD IS READY FOR G. A. R. VETERANS

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 6.—The thirty-first annual encampment of the department of Georgia and South Carolina of the Grand Army of the Republic will convene here Saturday, March 10, with delegates from all the Grand Army posts in both states, according to announcement made by department Commander J. W. Howder, of this city.

The encampment will convene in the G. A. R. hall and a banquet will be served by the Woman's Relief corps, the auxiliary of the organization. The officers of the department are: W. Howder, commander; Charles R. Haskins, of Atlanta; service commander; Henry Bruner, Fitzgerald; junior vice commander; C. L. Hirth, assistant adjutant general. Delegates to the Grand Encampment will be elected at this meeting.

G. O. P. DELEGATES FACE COURT FIGHT

A temporary injunction was issued Tuesday afternoon by Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton superior court restraining fifth district republican officers from certifying names of the newly-elected delegates to the national convention at Kansas City, pending a hearing March 10 on a complaint made by Frank A. Doughman, Atlanta attorney and member of the DeKalb county delegation.

The fifth district convention, held here Saturday, which elected C. W. Hager, federal district attorney, and Austin T. Walden as delegate and alternate, was illegally called, while the Fulton delegation was self-elected and illegally seated, the petition sets forth.

Walden, as temporary and permanent chairman of the fifth district group, and William Driskell, as secretary, were named defendants in the complaint.

M. M. Hill, former chairman, issued an illegal call to the convention, the paper asserts, in that it excluded all voters who had opposed Coolidge and Davies in 1924, together with all persons who had participated in white or democratic primaries of that year, thereby denying a place to voters who may have wished to change their affiliations.

The paper also charges that the meeting was contrary to the Georgia law in that its delegates were chosen "on street corners, automobiles and private places," instead of at the county courthouse as provided under the statute.

According to the petition, a fraud would be perpetrated if Hager and Walden are permitted to go to the republican national committee, and an "irreparable wrong done the fifth district republican convention."

The plaintiff contends he objected on the floor of the meeting to the irregularity of the proceedings, but was ruled out of order by the chair.

Marietta Plans Gala Reception Of Civil War Gun

Marietta, Ga., March 6.—(Special.) Preparations are being made here for the ceremonial return of a brass cannon, once the property of the old Georgia Military institute, located here during the civil war, the people of Gettysburg, Pa., having decided to present the field piece to its former owners.

The cannon, which was captured during Sherman's march through Georgia, has been in the possession of the Pennsylvania battle site commission since Sherman took it north.

It will be presented to a representative Georgia delegation at Gettysburg March 24, including Senators Harris and George, Secretary of War Davis, Representative Harver and Sam W. Small, Washington correspondent of The Atlanta Constitution, and a number of others.

Officials of Marietta, headed by Mayor Pro Tem, Len C. Baldwin, have arranged appropriate programs to celebrate the return of the cannon, both in the northern city and at Marietta.

The Marietta celebration will be staged April 26, according to plans, with prominent speakers invited to deliver addresses.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Confederate Veterans and Sons of Confederate Veterans will participate in the ceremonies.

Fair Understudy To Abie's 'Rose' Awaits 'Chance'

tle lady behind the drops is on her toes for an Atlanta appearance which the law of averages likely will deny her.

Standing back-stage, Miss Marsh watches every gesture, hears every inflection of the star whose lines she has mastered, and whose graces she can reflect.

As "Abie's Irish Rose," which opened for a week's run Monday night, continues to lure cash customers via the Erlanger box-office, little Miss Marsh eagerly awaits the grand adventure.

Not, you understand, that she wishes misfortune for Katherine Robinson, as Rose Mary, or for Mildred Beverly, as Mrs. Cohen, but Miss Marsh has vowed months to mastering both roles and is prepared, at a moment's notice, to demonstrate her worth.

Meanwhile that irrepressible production of Anne Nichols' continues a box-office boon, despite its age.

FORMER INGENUE IN FORSYTH STOCK TO WED PROFESSOR

The engagement of Miss Theodosia Shaler, prominent New York debutante and formerly ingenue with a company of the Forsyth Players several seasons ago here, to Professor Hubert Vincent Davis was announced Sunday in The New York Times.

Miss Shaler is the daughter of Mrs. George Reynolds, of 1 West Sixty-ninth street, New York, and the late Harry Gibson Shaler, of Pittsburgh, and a granddaughter of Dr. Nathaniel Shaler, a former dean of Harvard university. Professor Davis is a member of the faculty of the Hill school, of Drottstown, Pa.

During the time she played here with the Forsyth company Miss Shaler was intensely popular among the younger set, and she has hosts of friends in Atlanta.

2 ARE INDICTED FOR KIDNAPING

W. W. Eberhart, dentist of Mankato, Minn., and C. J. Jones, described as a former constable of Lee county, Fla., were jointly indicted Tuesday afternoon by the Fulton grand jury charged with kidnaping the 11-year-old son of Mrs. Cora Cook, 1022 Sanders avenue, S. E. Bond of $1,000 was fixed in each case.

Dr. Eberhart, the divorced husband of Mrs. Cook, is the boy's father. Police were told the lad, called Robert Warren Eberhart by the indictment, and Robert Cook by his mother, was forced into an automobile while on his way to school Monday morning near the intersection of Moreland avenue and McPherson street.

Two men were in the automobile which drove away with the boy, the lad's companions reported. A widespread search had failed to bring news of their whereabouts at a late hour Tuesday night.

Mrs. Cook and her present husband swore out warrants against the two men in the municipal court Tuesday morning, although Mrs. Cook declined to name a defendant on a visit to the Fulton county courthouse Monday afternoon.

Later Mrs. Cook conferred with Assistant Solicitor General Stephens, who drew the bills and presented them to the grand jury.

According to the mother's statement, she was divorced from Eberhart shortly after the birth of her son, and was awarded his custody. An appeal to a higher court later won the father the right to vacation visits from his son, she said.

Mrs. Cook, who had lived in Minnesota, obtained her divorce in Florida. Press dispatches from Fort Myers, Fla., say that Eberhart recently left the Florida city after spending several months there.

INSTALMENT ISSUE DECIDED BY COURT

A firm selling an article to a customer on the installment plan, under a sale contract that fails to set forth the total price of the article, cannot recover the property at law because the payments have stopped, the Georgia state court of appeals has just ruled.

In the case of a Gordon county citizen against an Atlanta mail order concern, the court reversed a decision of Gordon county superior court, which found for the company in a suit to recover a piano purchased by a customer who was alleged to have stopped payments after remitting less than one-third of the purchase price.

The contract under which the piano was bought, as entered in evidence, merely provided for payments of $12 per month, beginning at the end of 30 days, free trial and continuing "until paid for in full." The plaintiff company alleged that the instrument, plus freight, was valued at $458.48 and that the defendant had paid only $132, leaving a balance due of $326.48.

In its ruling the high court held: "In a suit to recover personal property, where the plaintiff relies for the establishment of title upon a written contract with the defendant whereby the defendant agreed to pay to the plaintiff certain monthly payments until the property is paid for, and providing that when the property is paid for it will become the property of the defendant, and where the contract does not indicate the price to be paid for the property, the plaintiff cannot establish title to the property without proof that the entire purchase price therefor has not been paid, and this fact cannot be established by the plaintiff on a contractual obligation on the part of the defendant to pay a certain definite and fixed price for the property."

The ruling further held that "a mere charge on the books of the plaintiff showing a balance due by the defendant upon the property sold is not sufficient to authorize an inference that the defendant had contracted to pay any fixed sum for the property."

TATE SEES SUCCESS FOR HOSPITAL BILL

Reporting that he considered the passed by congress of the hospital appropriations bill as practically assured, William M. Tate, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, Tuesday night was honor guest at the regular meeting of Woodrow Wilson chapter, No. 1, of the organization at the Ansley hotel.

The hospital appropriations bill now before congress provides for other improvements and constructions the enlargement of the local veterans' hospital No. 48.

Plans for attending the national convention to be held in Denver, Colo., were discussed at the meeting and hupetus was given to the drive to have an unusually large and representative membership in the Woodrow Wilson chapter by the time the convention occurs.

Every disabled American veteran of the world war is especially urged to join the local chapter, it is announced, as many benefits are to be derived from association with the Disabled American Veterans. Many veterans have been aided in obtaining just compensation for injuries sustained in the war by the chapter, it is announced.

Mr. Tate reported the gift to the national organization of $20,000 by the Annie C. Kane estate of New York. This money will go to the $2,000,000 trust fund now being raised by the organization.

A special drum and bugle corps to represent Atlanta at the national convention is being organized and a meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night for this purpose.

Lectures and Concerts Focus Thoughts of Society Today

Lectures, concerts and musicals turn society's thoughts from more frivolous channels to things of a worth-while nature today, assembling interested groups of friends to hear Ernest Boyd, the well-known literary critic, lecture at the library school; others to hear Charles Gos, son of the noted Swiss painter, Albert Gos, deliver an illustrated lecture on "The Painters of the Alps" before the members of the Atlanta Art association at the High museum; while music lovers anticipate the morning musicale of the Atlanta Music club, presenting Hugh Hodgson, Atlanta concert-pianist, teacher and composer, in a program assisted by Mrs. Hodgson and a small group of his students.

A charming visitor whose arrival in the city Tuesday was the signal for much entertaining of a delightful informal nature, is Mrs. Louis Stevens, of Macon, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John D. Little. Mrs. Little's luncheon today will assemble a group of prominent matrons invited to meet Mrs. Stevens.

Miss Martha Hodgson and Miss Dolle Lee Gordy are two popular brides-elect who will be central figures at informal affairs today. Members of the Peiret Folies cant will be honor guests at Mrs. Charles Conklin's reception. Mrs. Irving Thomas' luncheon to the board of management of the Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., is another interesting affair of today's calendar.

Albert Gos Paintings Are Exhibited.

"The paintings of Albert Gos, on display at the High Museum of Art, are some of the most engaging canvases ever brought to Atlanta," says J. Carroll Payne, president of the Atlanta Art association. "I hope that every citizen of Atlanta will take the time to visit the High museum and view these wonderful canvases."

This exhibition will remain on view until March 14, and for the convenience of the public, new visiting hours at the museum have been put into effect. Starting today, the museum will be open daily, except Sunday, at 10 a. m. and close at 5 o'clock. Sundays from 2 until 6 o'clock.

S. A. E. Fraternity To Celebrate.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will celebrate the founding of the seventy-second anniversary Friday evening, March 9, at the Piedmont Driving club, the fraternity having been founded March 15, 1856. The occasion is sponsored by the members of the Atlanta Alumni association and the local chapters at the University of Georgia, Georgia Tech and Emory university. Interest Centers In Jascha Heifetz Concert Friday

Wide interest is being manifested in the concert of Jascha Heifetz, world famous Russian violinist, which will be held at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening, March 9, at the city auditorium. Tickets are on sale at Cable Piano Co.

During the past two years abroad Heifetz has added triumphs to an already notable list, again winning the unstinted praise of London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Petrograd and the great provincial cities of France, Great Britain, Scandinavia and Australia.

A master of tone and technique, whose problems seem to disappear under his bow, Heifetz brings forth interpretations of majestic beauty and a consummate simplicity and ease. The world has known many great artists that were masters of the violin, but it is a debatable question whether ever in one man were combined so many qualities of supreme excellence as are found in this Russian youth.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

What Happened on a Warm Day. When bees are buzzing in a hive, lie low if you would keep alive. —Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

At last little Mrs. Whitefoot had rebuilt the nest in Farmer Brown's beehive to suit her. Whitefoot couldn't see that it was one bit better than the nest he had built there. No, sir, he couldn't see that that nest was one bit better. In fact, he could not see that it was any different.

"Well," thought he, "if she is satisfied I ought to be. But it's the last time I'll ever undertake to do anything for her. Somehow or other I never can do it right."

That beehive certainly was a very comfortable place in which to live. Mrs. Whitefoot had to admit that it was all that Whitefoot had promised her it would be. It was the warmest winter home she had ever enjoyed.

Every day there was fresh meat, in the form of dead bees which had dropped from the swarm up above, right on their doorstep, so to speak. There were no enemies to be afraid of. Always, wherever they had lived, there had been the fear that some day the Shadow the Wasp might make them a visit. But here they did not fear Shadow. Yes, indeed, it was a very comfortable place to live.

Both Whitefoot and Mrs. Whitefoot knew that they had no business in there. They knew that were those bees awake and active they would not be allowed in there one minute if the bees suspected their presence. But as long as the cold weather lasted there was nothing to fear from the bees.

It happened one day that Whitefoot and Mrs. Whitefoot were fast asleep in their snug nest, after having been out most of the night. By and by into their dreams there crept a strange noise. At last Whitefoot awoke.

It was a loud humming, a droning. It sounded loud in there. Whitefoot poked Mrs. Whitefoot. "Wake up, my dear, and listen!" said he. Mrs. Whitefoot awoke with a start. It was needless to tell her to listen. She was doing that already. "What is it?" she asked in a startled whisper.

The next story: "The Hive Becomes a Nursery."

BILL OF LADING FORM WILL BE DISCUSSED

A hearing to discuss the wider use of the uniform through export bill of lading is to be conducted here at 10 o'clock on the morning of Friday, March 9, in the assembly hall of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce by the transportation division of the United States department of commerce, according to announcement Tuesday by Harry O. Mitchell, district manager.

A. Lance Criche, assistant chief of the transportation division, will open the discussion, which will be conducted as an open forum.

As pointed out by Mr. Mitchell, the uniform through export bill of lading is regarded as of great importance to shippers and financial interests located in the interior with reference to the extension of foreign trade. The use of this document greatly simplifies export procedure as it enables interior shippers to make shipments to foreign destinations by means of one through shipping document. It also gives the following advantages: Direct shipment from seller to foreign buyer without the aid of an intermediate party, prompt collection of payment for the merchandise, exemption from certain embargoes, limited free storage at port of export and a definite saving in time and money.

Atlanta was selected for the first hearing in southern territory. Other hearings are being conducted throughout the country and when completed a bulletin will be published by the department of commerce giving complete information on the uniform through export bill of lading, an outline of the respective rights and liabilities of shippers, carriers and purchasers, and a uniform interpretation of the various clauses involved.

Cooperating with the department are the following groups: Atlanta Foreign Trade club, Traffic Club of Atlanta, Atlanta Association of Credit

The date of the annual election of officers for the league was changed from June to May so that the new president can attend the national conference.

Mrs. John Knox, recording secretary, read the article written by Mrs. Turner Jones, which was placed in the cornerstone of Eggleston Memorial hospital at the exercises held last Sunday, an excerpt from which read "We of the Junior League deem it a privilege in having a part in the laying of the cornerstone in the first children's hospital erected in Atlanta. In concentrating upon this single charity which made such a great appeal to this organization, its aim and purpose being to work for worthy charities, the following factors played an important part, that it was a challenge to itself to see the community prosper, and a call to the love of small children."

The National Junior League Bulletin, published in New York, contains an article in the current issue by Mrs. Laurence Willet entitled "The Light in the Mountains," and relates the educational value of Tallulah Falls Industrial school, owned and maintained by Georgia Federation of Women's clubs. RICH'S CREATES LOW PRICES

All customers are entitled to obtain good merchandise at the lowest prices possible. To meet this obligation, there is one best way.

That way is not lack of system—prices up today and down tomorrow. It is not blindly following the policies of others.

The one best way is the method of stores which, acting on steadfast principle, at all times use their own buying power with the intent of reducing prices.

Theirs is the only far-reaching way. Their method is the only true leaven. Yeast applied after the bread is baked will not leaven the lump—nor will even an earnest—but necessarily superficial—attempt to follow others leaven prices throughout a store.

It is Rich's policy to leaven bread-in-the-making. By this policy

VETERANS IN GRAY RECEIVE $1,855,477

Almost $2,000,000 was paid out by the state of Georgia in pensions to Confederate soldiers in 1927, the exact total being $1,855,477, according to an audit of the books of the state pension department made by Sam J. Slate, state auditor, and submitted to the governor Tuesday. Mr. Slate also submitted a report of an audit of the books and accounts of the Georgia Training School for Mental Defectives, at Augusta.

In his comments on the pension audit, Mr. Slate commended the commission for "a very marked improvement" in the handling of payments, but recommended more uniformity of practice among county ordinaries in depositing and paying out pension funds. As a remedy he suggested a standard form for bank deposits and a uniform bank check to be furnished by the state, cancelled checks to be sent to the commission for filing.

The report showed that 2,998 veterans and 5,541 widows drew pensions, during 1927. The total consisted of quarterly remittances of $50 each, as well as death and funeral allowances.

In his audit of the school for mental defectives Mr. Slate commented that the school's increased appropriation, amounting this year to $300,000 instead of $250,000 as formerly, will enable it "for the first time to begin to cope in a measure with the conditions arising out of the mentally defective childhood of the state." An increase of number of inmates was noted since the last audit by the state.

During 1927 the institution spent $36,632.03, the audit showed, receiving a state appropriation of $35,000 and earning $698.52 with the school's farm and dairy.

Trading in General Motors started off at a fairly slow pace, compared with the two preceding sessions. In the noon reaction the stock dipped to 150, but after a few minutes it recovered to 152 1/2 points, although United States Steel common, Consolidated Gas, Paramount-Famous Players and a few other recent favorites showed small declines. The volume of trading was not in so large a volume as the

The sluggishness of the market last month had resulted in the market making a large loss. Interest in many issues will be taking shape in the form of "bull" points, possibly sup-

Same Old Story for Shorts, Caught in Rising Market—Four Stocks Have Turnover of Million Shares—General Trade Is Below Normal—Cluett-Peabody Expects to Earn $15 a Share.

New York, May 16.—If it is true as it is now being claimed by some that there are 4,000,000 unemployed now throughout the country, the resumed upward trend of the economy will not be the resumption of the bull market as some are claiming. Nevertheless one thing certain is that the reason that some workers leave one industry for another is added to that whatever unemployment exists is partly a new development growing out of the hard to mouth buying. ADMIRALTY PHOLDS SAYS CHIEF British Vessel ESCAPE FROM RAIL

Norfolk, Va., March 6.—(P)—The O-L-7, Leaning amphib plane which sometime between 2 and 3 o'clock on the morning of February 27, proved a death ship to Commander F. C. Elyson, Lieutenant Commander Hugo Schmidt and Lieutenant Rogers Ranshousen, was not in proper condition for night flying, Lieutenant C. H. Schildhauer, in charge of the experimental unit which the O-L-7, amphib plane belonged, today told the naval board of inquiry investigating the tragedy.

During induction compass of the plane, the instrument designed to assist aviators in groping their way through uncharted seas, was not in proper working order, Lieutenant Schildhauer testified. Tests showed variations in its reckoning. In addition to this defect in the ship's primary navigation instrument, the flight indicator, which indicates the turn and pitch of the ship, was undergoing tests. Chief Aviation Mechanist Mate Eugene Fry, captain of the O-L-7, testified.

Lieutenant Schildhauer, who was in Washington at the time the three naval aviators left the Hampton Roads naval air station at 2 a. m. for Annapolis, when called upon at the end of his cross-examination to express his opinion upon the incident that might be of use, stressed the need of "more attention to night flying by naval aviators."

NEVO REPORTS HEARING PLANE FALL

Norfolk, Va., March 6.—(P)—Navy officials will make a report that Samuel Davenport, a negro, heard an aeroplane on February 27, apparently plunged into the Potomac river near Blundin's Bar, which have been that used by Commander T. G. Elyson and his two companions, missing more than a week.

Officials placed little importance in the report in view of the fact that wreckage, identified as part of the plane used by the three fliers, had washed ashore near Cape Charles City, more than 100 miles from Blundin's Bar. Commander Elyson was accompanied by Lieutenant Commander Hugo Schmidt and Lieutenant Rogers Ranshousen on the ill-fated flight.

FOUR MORE MEN TO FACE SCANDALS IN OIL SCANDALS

Washington, March 6.—(P)—Four additional witnesses, the name of one of whom was withheld, were summoned today by the Senate committee for the reopening Thursday of the inquiry into what became of the profits of the oil scandal.

The three whose names were made public are Miss E. H. Johnson, secretary to A. E. Eckhart, Chicago; Miller; and one of the members of the Chicago Board of Trade, and Walter J. Malatesta, who, the senate investigators understand, was connected with the republication of the oil scandal during and after the 1920 presidential campaign.

These witnesses, as well as James A. Patten, Chicago grain commission merchant, and William V. Hodges, of Denver, treasurer of the republican national committee, are to be questioned as to the disposition of the money bonds which were turned over to the committee in 1923 by Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, and in extinguishing the deficit remaining after the 1920 campaign.

FLORIDA DOCTOR MAKES HIS WILL, FALLS TO DEATH

Sarasota, Fla., March 6.—(P)—Dr. C. Bruyn Stringfield, formerly house physician at the Mid Florida Hotel in Chicago and one of the nation's wealthiest land holders and owner of Oak Park subdivision, was killed today by a fall from the roof of an eight-story building in which his office was located. At noon Dr. Stringfield called Roger Fisher, president of the Chicago club, and Mrs. Ovellette Albritton into his office to witness his will, in which he bequeathed all of his property to his wife, his only immediate relative. An hour later he was seen by a neighbor, who saw him spin into the air from the top of the First Trust building and crash to the concrete pavement below.

SAVANNAH SEEKS YOUTH BELIEVED HELD BY FUGITIVE

Northampton, Mass., March 6.—(P)—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who came to Northampton last Thursday to visit her mother, Mrs. Edmund Goodhue, who is ill at the Dickinson hospital here, left tonight to return to Washington. She was accompanied by Mrs. R. B. Hills, of this city, one of the friends of the president in the home of the president.

Mrs. Coolidge spent an hour and a half at the hospital this afternoon. At the hotel tonight it was said that Mrs. Goodhue had enjoyed her daughter's visit greatly and had been much brighter because of it. She had been in the hospital since December 11, when she suffered an attack of influenza. Mrs. Goodhue is 78 years old.

SENATE REJECTS NAME OF TAYLOR AS MEMPHIS P.M.

Washington, March 6.—The nomination of G. Thomas Taylor as postmaster of Memphis, Tenn., was rejected today by the senate within a few hours after it had been resubmitted by President Coolidge.

The rejection was the request of Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, who declared that Taylor, now serving under a recess appointment, was personally opposed to him.

The senate's course was an unusual one, as nominations generally are referred to committee for consideration, and in the event of opposition, for a hearing.

HAPGOOD, UNABLE TO PRODUCE BOND, IS KEPT IN JAIL

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 6.—(P)—Unable to obtain bail of $10,000 each, Powers Hapgood, of New York, representative of the American Civil Liberties union, and his wife, formerly Mary Donovan, of Boston, still were occupying cells at the Luzerne county jail tonight. Though their efforts to find a bondsman have been futile, the prisoners were in good spirits and did not seem at all apprehensive over the outcome of their trial in April on charges of inciting a riot and disorderly conduct.

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1928.

Eastman, Ga., March 6.—(Special). Three white prisoners escaped from the Dodge county jail here early Tuesday by sawing out some of the bars to the cells.

Those who escaped were W. L. Land, "Colonel" Roland and Mazon Peterson. Two other white prisoners confined in the same cell refused to leave with him and the other two, Tom Buchanan, charged with murder, and Bill Lamb, charged with larceny, preferred to remain in jail and stand their trials.

Land told Sheriff Mullis of the escape of the prisoners. Land had been proprietor of the Jay Bird Springs hotel, he having leased same several months ago.

FOLLOWING RECEIPT OF THE NEWS THAT THE HOSTILE CHEYENNES AND APACHOS WISHED TO MAKE PEACE WITH THE WHITES (SEPT., 1864). LARGE BANDS OF INDIANS WERE REPORTED MOVING TOWARD FORT LYON, COLORADO. MAJOR WYNKOOP, THIS COMMANDANT, RODE OUT WITH 130 TROOPERS TO MEET THEM.

EIGHTY MILES NORTHEAST OF THE FORT, WYNKOOP MET 800 INDIANS, WITH CHIEF BLACK KETTLE AT THEIR HEAD. BLACK KETTLE RODE FORWARD TO HOLD A PARLEY WITH THE OFFICER.

THE CHEYENNE CHIEFTAIN WAS EAGER TO MAKE A TREATY WITH WYNKOOP, AND AS A SIGN OF GOOD FAITH, SET FREE A NUMBER OF WHITE CAPTIVES TAKEN IN RECENT RAIDS.

WYNKOOP EXPLAINED THAT HE HAD NO AUTHORITY TO MAKE SUCH AN AGREEMENT, BUT OFFERED TO SEND BLACK KETTLE WITH AN ESCORT TO DENVER, WHERE HE COULD DISCUSS PEACE TERMS WITH THE GOVERNOR OF THE TERRITORY.

TOMORROW—BLACK KETTLE BEFORE GOVERNOR EVANS.
